Record Vote Predicted To-day In Alberta's First Harvest Election

Total of 240 Candidates Contesting Sixty-three Seats in Legislature of Neighboring Province; Polls Opened at 9 o'Clock This Morning and Good Weather Drew Voters Out

Eleven Parties Are Represented

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Aug. 22.—The first "harvest election" in Alberta's history to-day was expected to bring out the greatest number of votes ever recorded in a provincial election.

An intense campaign carried on throughout the rural and urban ridings, from the far northern constituencies to the southern boundary, created greater interest than ever before.

The trek to the polls started at 9 a.m. to-day with a promise of fair weather.

Polls in the rural ridings close at 6 p.m., and in the cities at 7 p.m., M.S.T.

With no acclamations on nomination day, every one of the 240 candidates, contesting the sixty-three seats for the eighth legislature, has at least three or four opponents. In Calgary and Edmonton, a total of forty-seven candidates are running for twelve seats—six in each constituency.

Premier Reid, head of the United Farmers of Alberta Government since 1934, has his complete cabinet slate, with the exception of Hon. Irene Parlby, who retired, in the field. W. R. Howson, Liberal head, and D. M. Duggan, provincial Conservative chieftain, are candidates.

Import Quota Is Abolished

Contracts for 400,000 Sacks As Part Payment for Railway

By PERCY WHITEING
Canadian Press Correspondent

Tokio, Aug. 22.—Norway has abolished the import quota system on Japanese porcelain and rubberware. The action follows imposition by Japan of a 50 per cent surtax on a number of Canadian imports in retaliation for alleged unfair barriers against Japanese exports entering Canada.

L. C. M. Aubert, Norwegian minister to Japan, in announcing his country's action, said it had been contemplated for some time, and had no connection with the Japanese action against Canada.

Japanese Government officials and commercial leaders express the hope that Canada will see the "logic" of the Japanese contentions and that the trade difference between the two countries may be ironed out.

ITALIAN CRUISER RECEIVES ORDERS

Canadian Press from Havas

Shanghai, Aug. 22.—The little Italian light cruiser Quarto, stationed here, was ordered to-day to Feitahno and it was reported she would proceed from there to the Red Sea without delay

London, Aug. 22.—Four British navy seaplanes of the Malta squadron were ordered to-day to return to their base August 31 from the training cruise they are now making in the Mediterranean.

They were at Cattaro, Jugoslavia, to-day and were to go from there by way of Corfu, Athens, Cyprus, Haifa, Aboukir and Crete back to Malta.

NOTED JURIST VISITOR HERE

Sir Frank Boyd Merriman, P.C., O.B.E., Admires Canadian Scenery

Sedulously avoiding any comment which might be construed of the slightest political import, Rt. Hon. Sir Frank Boyd Merriman, Kt., P.C., O.B.E., president of the Probate, Divorce and Admiralty Division of the High Court of Justice of Great Britain, spoke to newspapermen to-day of the grandeur of the Canadian Rockies and his appreciation of the hospitality shown him since his arrival in Canada.

He granted an interview at Government House to-day, but declined to speak of any public issues.

"Since went on the bench I have not discussed those matters. It is my business to administer the law, not to comment or criticize it," Sir Boyd stated.

He will be in Victoria until tomorrow evening, when he will return to Vancouver to entrain for Winnipeg

BANK RECALLS ITS CREDITS

Deterioration of Italian Exchange Said to Be Reason

Canadian Press

London, Aug. 22—One of the "big five" British banks, declared the financial editor of The News-Chronicle to-day, has recalled the whole of its Italian credits.

"As credits which are now utilized mature, they ill not be renewed and will have to be repaid by the Italian banks or commercial firms to which they were granted, it is probable this lead will be followed by all other big British banks," it added.

British coal exporters, for one, have been declining further coal shipments until payment of back debts. Representations have been made to the government.

Seeks Evidence For Hauptmann

Counsel for Convicted Lindbergh Baby Slayer at Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Aug. 22—Cloaking his activities in secrecy, Lloyd Fisher, chief counsel for Bruno Richard Hauptmann, declared here to-day that he was "confident I am on the right track of information which will save Hauptmann from the death penalty."

Aside from admitting he will confer with Mrs. Emma Gloeckner, Hauptmann's sister, who lives here, Fisher declined to elaborate on his mission to the west coast. He flew in here last night.

Native Sons Want War Plebiscite

Against Active Canadian Participation in European Dispute Unless Sanctioned By People; Anti-war Demonstration in Australia

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Aug. 22—A statement issued to-day by the national council of the Native Sons of Canada calls on the Canadian League of Nations representatives to support proposals for economic action by the League against Italy if it attacks Ethiopia in violation of obligations.

Seeing possibility of Canada being drawn into a conflict arising from the situation, the statement declared no expeditionary force should be sent out of the country until a nation-wide plebiscite has been taken.

Melbourne, Australian, Aug. 22 (Associated Press)—More than 3,000 men, women and children, including a group of Italians, held an anti-war demonstration here singing native songs and crying "shame on Mussolini!"

Children chanted "we want bread, not mustard gas," as the demonstrators, including clergymen, trade union officials and university students marched about the city bearing banners and flaming torches. No disorders were reported.

EULER'S VIEW

Gananoque, Ont., Aug. 22 (Canadian Press)—Canada should not be plunged into another war without the issue being settled by plebiscite of the people, Hon. W. D. Euler, former minister of national revenue in the Mackenzie King Liberal government, told the Liberal Association at Grappen Lake yesterday.

"I hope our government will not go to war. Canada should not go into war without the consent of the people and I would go further—it should be settled by plebiscite of the people," said Mr. Euler.

PLANE VICTIMS AT CHEYENNE

Canadian Press

Cheyenne, Wyo., Aug. 22.—The bodies of three Indianapolis residents, killed in a plane crash a week ago on fog-enshrouded Laramie Peak, lay in a Cheyenne mortuary to-day.

A hearse carried the broken, burned remains of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Arnett, youthful bridal couple, and their middle aged friend, Burnside Smith, transit company executive, to Cheyenne last night after they had been laboriously lowered down the mountainside.

Rain In Maritimes Aids Firefighters

Danger to Hard-pressed Communities in Eastern Canada Averted; Death of Centenarian in Nova Scotia Attributed to Fires

Canadian Press

Halifax, Aug. 22.—Rain has lined up with the fire-fighters in the forests of the Canadian Maritimes, drenching timberlands ablaze for days and bringing hope of an early end to vast property destruction.

Danger to hard-pressed villages and farm homes in half a dozen areas lessened appreciably as rain showered down or overcast skies shut off the sun's heat. Toiling thousands of volunteer firemen were expected to have them safe soon.

First human toll of the disastrous fires was claimed to-day when ninety-eight-year-old William Boutilier died at False Bay, N.S., of Wadden's Cove, two days ago.

He died at the home of George Wadden here, where he had been prostrated ever since his rescue in a dramatic dash through the doomed village in a blazing automobile.

Relief was felt most keenly in New Brunswick, where the villages of Upper Gagetown and Loggieville had been ready for abandonment. They are now reported out of danger.

In Nova Scotia's Hants County the first rain in weeks came as shifting winds played tricks with fires raging in the woods around Upper, Central and South Rawdon, Nine Mile River

Great Men Mourned At Solemn Services

Widespread Grief Displayed as Will Rogers Is Buried at Glendale, Cal., and Wiley Post in Oklahoma; Many Thousands of People Pay Tribute to Dead at Obsequies To-day

Associated Press

Los Angeles, Aug. 22.—In a mammoth demonstration of tribute, Will Rogers was canonized in the valhalla of popular esteem to-day as a crowd said to exceed 100,000 persons filed past his bier.

The body of the well-beloved actor and master of gentle satire lay in state out under trees at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, Glendale.

In a column of twos, persons from all walks of life passed by the closed casket, which was almost covered with United States flag fashioned from flowers. Some mourners carried little bunches of flowers to leave at the bier. Some carried only a single modest blossom. In the seemingly endless stream of humanity were roughly dressed laborers, housewives, business men, motion picture "extras" and office workers, some of whom appeared as early as 3.15 a.m.

These were the thousands who regarded the humble-living philosopher as their friend and wanted to participate in the farewell to him, even if they could not attend the funeral service to-day which space limited to a scant few hundred mourners.

Coming Poll Means Much To Province

B.C. Has Lot at Stake in Dealings With Federal Government in Next Few Years and Should Send Solid Group to Support New Administration, Declares Premier Pattullo

Because it is so vitally concerned at the present time with what a new Federal government at Ottawa will do, British Columbia's interests lie in sending a solid representation to Ottawa in support of the next administration, said Premier Pattullo in a radio speech yesterday evening discussing the position of the province in the forthcoming general election.

"There is an opportunity now for British Columbia, such as has not been available for a long time. Let us see to it that we grasp it," the Premier declared. "The present Dominion election furnishes an immediate opportunity to take action which will accelerate the accomplishment of our purposes."

The Premier, in a half-hour speech, reviewed the various issues in the Federal field in which B.C. is especially interested and made reference to the views of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, on each.

Referring to the oft-stated need for revision of relationships between the federal and provincial governments and a review of the financial set-up, he said:

"These are important matters of public policy facing this province which can only be solved through consultation and cooperation with the other provinces and the Dominion as a whole."

Criticizing the delay in holding the election Premier Pattullo advocated a change in the constitution to the effect that in the absence of provision for an election prior to the legal expiration of Parliament, the date for election of a new Parliament should be fixed for the day immediately following the day of expiration of the old Parliament.

Full Sanctions Against Aggressor Nation To Be Supported By Britain

Application, jointly with Other Nations, of Military, Naval, Air, Financial and Economic Measures, Considered Only as a Last Resort, to Be Urged at League of Nations Council Session to Prevent Italo-Ethiopian War, London Reports of To-day's Cabinet Meeting Indicate

DOMINIONS ARE KEPT INFORMED

By HAROLD P. BRAMAN,
Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Aug. 22.—Informed sources disclosed to-night that the cabinet decided in to-day's emergency session to strongly support a general joint application of full sanctions—military, naval, air, financial and economic—against the aggressor in the present Italo-Ethiopian dispute if such action is necessary as a last resort.

The course of action to be finally pursued would be jointly determined in the League of Nations where it would be put up to a vote of the League members to determine what type of sanctions (penalties against treaty violations) would be necessary.

At the same time, these sources declared, the cabinet decided the government would not formally approach the United States government on the dispute at the present time, but would keep in the closest touch with Washington.

The cabinet decided to make new efforts to settle the dispute peacefully through diplomatic channels and at Geneva, and joint action by other nations with Great Britain in the event of aggression will only be proposed if all peace efforts fail.

MAY MODIFY BAN

At the same time, as a further gesture toward Italy particularly, the cabinet decided to maintain its ban against shipment of war munitions both to Italy and Ethiopia.

U.S. NOT TO BE INVOLVED

Britain So Informed By Roosevelt Through Embassy in London

Canadian Press from Havas

Paris, Aug. 22.—The United States has informed Great Britain through its embassy in London that President Roosevelt is determined to prevent his country being involved in any way in the Italo-Ethiopian conflict, it was reported here to-day by the newspaper Le Matin.

Ray Atherton, United States Charge d'Affaires, delivered the message to Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, Le Matin said.

The Echo De Paris published the same report and said the United States would not even discuss possible sanctions against Italy.

Hurricane Off Florida Coast

Associated Press

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 22.—Summer's first tropical storm in North American waters roared upward through the sea to-day, some 700 miles off the northwest Florida coast, in the general direction of the island of Bermuda.

The United States weather bureau here said the disturbance, now of hurricane proportions, held no further threat for any part of the United States but "indications are the centre will pass near or to the west of Bermuda in twenty-four to thirty-six hours."

Say Deserters Cross Border

Canadian Press

Zagreb, Yugoslavia, Aug. 22—"The newspaper "Istra" yesterday reported that Italian deserters were arriving daily, sixty-one found their way to Zagreb. The deserters, the newspaper said, told of food shortages in their home districts in Italy which they said were caused by military requisitioning of all available supplies.

From Reid, in Upper Austria, came the report of the home-coming of Max Haberle, a South Tyrolean under sentence for desertion from the Italian army who had escaped to Austria.

Reaching his home town he told his story to a gathering of his townspeople. As he concluded, he cried: "Down with Mussolini" and slit his throat with a razor blade. He survived.

JAPAN SENDS BRITAIN NOTE

Canadian Press

Tokio, Aug. 22.—Newspapers today suggested the Japanese government, in future naval negotiations, will insist on the principle of a common limit in tonnage for all naval powers but may make concessions on the question of absolute parity with Great Britain and the United States.

It was stated the government had instructed Keinosuke Fujii, the Japanese Charge D'Affaires in London, to delivery to the British Government a note containing the Japanese government's "observations" on the naval question.

This note was understood to have received the full approval of the cabinet yesterday and also the Emperor's sanction.

Ontario Bond Issue Awarded

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 22.—The province of Ontario to-day awarded $10,000,000 of 2 per cent bonds to a syndicate headed by Wood, Gundy and Co. The bonds, due February 15, 1938, are being reoffered to the public, payable in Canadian funds only at 99¾ to yield 2.10 per cent.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Premier Hepburn said to-day he could make public no further details of the Ontario bond issue awarded in New York to a syndicate headed by Wood, Gundy and Company.

Mr. Hepburn said the province had been negotiating for some time, but at present time he did not wish to discuss the matter.

French Veterans Arrive in States

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 22—New York York legionnaires to-day welcomed a delegation of French war veterans on their second goodwill visit to the United States.

Three hundred and fifteen former French soldiers, accompanied by their wives and sisters, arrived here from Niagara Falls and Montreal and received a salute from a platoon of marines at Grand Central Station.

Italian Consul Accidentally Shot

Baron Muzzi Falconi suffering From Wound in Ethiopian Hospital; Shot While Hunting, Official Communique States

Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Aug. 22.—Baron Muzzi Falconi, an Italian consul, accidentally shot himself with a revolver last Tuesday, it was learned to-day, when the wounded man was brought to the Italian hospital here.

Accompanied by his wife, the daughter of the British Minister to Ethiopia, the consul was on his way by caravan to his post at Deber Marcos in Godjam Province. The accident occurred in Suralto forest. One of the two bullets fired when the baron was examining his revolver grazed his lungs.

Although two days have elapsed since the shooting and the Baron had lost a great deal of blood, doctors said they were hopeful of recovery.

Working Mines Doing Better

Fewer Island Collieries Operating, But Total Output Higher in July

Despite the shutdown of number five mine at South Wellington, the output from Vancouver Island collieries in July increased by 4,000 tons, or roughly 10 per cent over the same month in 1934.

Official figures given out by the Department of Mines to-day showed a production of 45,236 tons in the month, against 41,290 in July last year. This was the output from seven mines, where there were eleven properties working in 1934.

In the rest of the province the coal production has slumped, with the East Kootenay section down 26,000 tons due to the closure of the Corbin mines. Output for the entire province in July was 86,062 tons, compared with 107,498 tons last year.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Homewood, Man., Aug. 22.—Animals molesting his ducks brought death indirectly to Percy Smith yesterday. The farmer hurried out with his shotgun, which accidentally discharged as he climbed over a barbed-wire fence, killing him instantly.

TWENTY KILLED IN ROUMANIA

Associated Press

Barsov, Roumania, Aug. 22.—Twenty workmen were reported killed and thirty injured to-day when the steel frame of a new airplane hangar under construction here collapsed.

Authorities said they feared still more bodies were crushed under the debris. The architects were arrested.

NOT FIRST TO DRAW BLOOD

Says Emperor Haile Selassie Praying That War May Be Averted

By JAMES A. MILLS,

Copyright, by the Associated Press

Addis Ababa, Aug. 22.—The soft voice of Emperor Haile Selassie, a gentle-eyed figure, seated in the dim-lit throne room of the imperial palace, to-day was lifted in prayer to prevent his 7,000-year-old kingdom of Ethiopia from being drenched in blood.

"God, give me the patience and courage to hold back my army until all efforts for peace are exhausted," he said in a private interview. "We shall not be the first to draw blood."

"I still have faith in England," he continued. "I am still hopeful the League of Nations will work out a solution. But if a war descrates our soil, an order for blood must come and we are ready to preserve the kingdom our fathers gave us.

"We would be untrue to our great past, which goes beyond Biblical times, and we would stain our proud record of victories if we failed in our duty.

"If Italy attempts to conquer us," he said earnestly, "we shall repeat our victory of Adua. We shall be strong because we must."

He rose and walked to the window and stood looking down upon thousands of his whiteclad warriors, drilling with medieval lances and swords on the green grounds of he palace. Rain was falling, drenching the soldiers.

"We are struggling with our back to the wall," he said. "We are doomed, against all our wishes, to fight a mighty power, which possesses enough ammunition and instruments of death to overwhelm a much stronger nation.

"I cannot understand England preventing ammunition from reaching us. We were handicapped enough without this further hindrance. Are we to fight with spears and leather shields against machine gun bullets?

"The preamble of the Treaty of 1920 says clearly Ethiopia shall be allowed to obtain all the arms necessary to defend ourselves from external aggression. How can England break such a solemn treaty?"

Geneva Is Last Hope To Check Rome

It has been recognized all along that the temporary ban affected Ethiopia more than Italy. The ministers decided to continue it temporarily for the purpose of showing Italy that Great Britain still wants to settle the affair peacefully.

However, it was learned that the arms question will be under constant consideration and the ban may be modified at any time.

The cabinet decided there was no reason to change the known attitude of the British government toward the League of Nations and the League Covenant.

The decisions were reached toward the close of a four and three-quarters hour meeting during which the ministers solemnly reviewed the whole problem.

The United States viewpoint, as indicated by yesterday's neutrality resolution of the Senate in Washington, was mentioned but kept in the background.

The keynote of the cabinet's decision was embodied in the statement made July 31 by Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, in the House of Commons when he said: "I do not think there need be any doubt that we are fully conscious of our obligations under our treaties and under the covenant and that we certainly intend to uphold them."

The cabinet members decided they would fulfil those obligations to the limit in conjunction with other countries if war breaks out.

KEEP DOMINIONS ADVISED

The government will continue to keep the Dominions and the United States closely advised of its progress in new peace efforts. It will give Ray Atherton, the United States charge d'affaires, a continuous summary of events.

However, the cabinet remained firmly opposed to single-handed action as far as sanctions against nations are concerned, in order sedulously to avoid assuming the role of sole policeman of European peace. Great Britain will continue to work with France in the peace efforts.

Contrary to expectations, no official statement of the cabinet proceedings was issued, the decisions arrived in it being announced unofficially and informally.

The cabinet is of "very clear mind as to what should be done." That was the description of the four and three-quarter hour conference made by Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, Lord President of the Council, as he left 10 Downing Street.

The former Premier seemed in happy spirits as he and his son, Malcolm, the Colonial Secetary, started for their homes.

Although the official temperature was 91 degrees in the shade, Mr. MacDonald said: "We are very calm and cool."

The ministers, all of whom were present, fully discussed and outlined the plans which the British will follow when the Council of the League of nations goes into action next month.

Mainly, it was understood, they debated the question of sanctions—the punishment of nations which violate treaty or other international obligations.

After conferring for three hours during the morning, the ministers reconvened in mid-afternoon, determined to thresh out the question of British policy.

The complexities of the problem led to a belief that the cabinet might not be able to finish its task to-day, although Prime Minister Baldwin, who called it into extraordinary session, sought to wind up the matter as rapidly as possible.

The ministers conducted a searching discussion of the situation even during the lunch-time adjournment.

The twenty-two ministers assembled heard a full report from Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs, of the abortive conference in Paris with representatives of France and Italy.

Afterward they considered the question of the arms embargo which has been clamped down on both Italy and Ethiopia. Then they debated the course to be followed at next month's session of the League of Nations Council at Geneva.

The cabinet finally adjourned at 4.30 p.m.

London, Aug. 22 (Canadian Press-Havas)—Premier Stanley Baldwin decided to return to Aix-les- Baines, France, this evening and it was announced that there would be no other meeting of the cabinet before the League of Nations Council convenes on September 4.

LAVAL'S WORRIES

Paris, Aug. 22.—The worries of Premier Pierre Laval over the possible wrecking of the League of Nations were increased to-day.

Fear was prevalent in France that any opposing action by the British government would make Italy doubly determined to conquer the Ethiopian empire.

Following the frank admission of Baron Pompeo Aloisi, Italy's spokesman at the tri-power conference in Paris, that Italy was strongly considering quitting the League, the French hoped the British cabinet's deliberations would result in a "friendly" decision.

Laval hoped a conciliatory cabinet would permit diplomatic activity to continue with Il Duce in a receptive mood. Although Mussolini has refused to brook interference with his campaign in East Africa, Laval has been negotiating with him with a view to limiting war, if he cannot prevent it entirely.

French officials expressed belief it would be impossible for Great Britain to close the Suez Canal to Italian troopships, in enforcement of sanctions, without running the danger of Il Duce considering it a hostile act.

and Renfrew. The flames had been virtually under control early when the wind rose to gale strength and seriously imperilled Renfrew and Nine Mile River.

Further east in Nova Scotia, on a narrow spit sticking out from Cape Breton Island, flames were smouldering in the woods around North Head after wiping out all but ten buildings in South Head and nearby Wadden's Cove. The Anglican church was one of the South Head buildings saved when fire swept into the tiny settlement of twenty buildings yesterday.

In Prince Edward Island the rain brought security to farmers at Tyne Valley and St. Peter's, menaced for days by fires. Nine buildings in the two places had been burned.

DEATH FROM ANTHRAX

London, Aug. 22.—For two years John Banks of Brixton unknowingly used a shaving brush infected with anthrax. He cut himself while shaving recently and died shortly afterwards. The brush, last of a suspected consignment of twelve brushes, was sought by the Ministry of Health for three years.

Lead Poisoning Cure for Cancer

Saves Some "Hopeless" Cases, Mayo Doctor Says; Ontario Assisting

Associated Press

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—The apparent cure of a few "hopeless" cancer cases by the administration of lead phosphate to a degree producing lead intoxication was reported to the American Chemical Society yesterday.

Dr. A. E. Osterberg, Dr. J. A. Bargen and Dr. B. T. Horton of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., said favorable results were obtained in fourteen out of eighty-five instances.

The procedure involved administering a quantity of lead phospate during a period of approximately ten days in amounts sufficient to produce acute lead poisoning. This was on the theory that a heavier concentration of the lead occurs in the malignant cells of a tumor than in the normal tissue, and many times results in necrosis or sloughing away of the tumor. The normal tissue is able, the reporting physicians said, to recover completely from the concentration of lead.

The lead poisoning can be controlled by calcium treatments.

Associated Press

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Impressed with the cancer discovery announced recently by Dr. Henry C. Connell from his laboratory at Queen's University, Kingston, but not yet ready to approve it as a cure, the Ontario government has moved to assure Dr. Connell of a supply of cancerous tissues for research work.

"The minister of health through one of his deputies is soliciting the co-operation of the staffs of various public hospitals in supplying cancerous tissue to Dr. Connell," Dr. B. T. McGhie, deputy minister of health, said to-day.

"He has not got to the point yet where the government has put the stamp of approval on it as a cure," Dr. McGhie added, "but he is going about it in the right way."

In mid-July D. Connell announced the discovery of a new series of biological products, through use of harmless tiny organisms that might lead to subjugation of cancer. He has named the products "ensols," one of which he said at the time "arrests the development of carcinoma cancer and may control it."

Italian Consul Accidentally Shot

"The wounded consul to-day was brought to Addis Ababa and taken to the Italian hospital. The government opened an inquiry to find out the circumstances of the affair."

He was the son-in-law ow Sir Sidney Barton, British Minister to Ethiopia and veteran diplomat. He married Sir Sidney's daughter, Marion, two years ago in Rome, while attached to the Foreign Office.

Baron and Baroness Falconi left Addis Ababa last Tuesday on their journey into the northwest. The Baroness said they camped Wednesday on Soulouta Plain.

The Baroness went into the forest, she said, leaving her husband sitting on a rock. When she returned, she found him lying in a pool of his own blood.

She asked the Ethiopian servant what had happened. He replied: "Accident."

The wife was given to unedrstand the consul was practising with his revolver. He pulled the trigger and the weapon failed to fire. He turned the gun around to examine it, and it exploded.

Associated Press

London, Aug. 22.—Baron Muzzi Falconi, reported wounded in Ethiopia to-day, is the son-in-law of Sir Sidney Barton, the British minister to Ethiopia.

He married the minister's daughter, Marion, in 133 in Rome. At that time Baron Falconi was a secretary in the Italian foreign office.

Sir Sidney has served his nation as a diplomat for forty years, having entered His Majesty's consular service in China in 1895. Most of his career was in China, and from 1922 to 1929 he was British consul-general in Shanghai.

Since 1929 he has headed the British legation in Addis Ababa.

Great Men Mourned At Solemn Service

All approaches to the verdant hilltop memorial park were choked with traffic. Still the thousands came. Shortly after the gates opened at 7 a.m., nearly 30,000 persons had congregated at the park.

Hurried along by officers, the mourners filed by the body at the rate of nearly 100 a minute. The line of march was kept several feet from the bier. Those who had flowers gave them to attendants, who went and placed them at the base of the catafalque.

The question of whether Rogers's casket should be open was left to his widow. She decided against it last night. Among those bidden to the private services this afternoon were Rear Admiral William T. Tarrant and Commander Herbert A. Jones, representing President Roosevelt.

The Hollywood bowl, seating 35,000, and the community Presbyterian Church of Beverly Hills, were meeting places for the general public. At the motion picture studios, including the one at which Rogers was a star, fellow film players were called to pay him homage.

A proclamation of Governor Frank F. Merriam asking a minute of silence throughout California at 2 p.m., the time of the services, was to be followed by city and federal offices, and most business houses here, with flags at half-staff throughout the day.

At Claremore, Okla., which Rogers called his "home town," memorial services were set and at nearby Chelsea, Rev. Argus J. Hamilton, classmate of the humorist, delivered an eulogy.

More than 12,000 theatres all over the United States were darkened for two minutes during the service.

AT OKLAHOMA CITY

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 22 (Associated Press). — Three airplanes trailing crepe circled high above the capitol of Oklahoma to-day as the state paused to bury one famous son and to mourn another.

The body of Wiley Post lay in the rotunda on the second floor of the capitol building in view of crowds that stood about the circular openings on the floors above.

Continuously from 10 a.m. a line of persons representing all the state's walks in life filed rapidly past the bronze casket.

In the silence of memory of Oklahoma's first airman, there was sorrow, too, for Will Rogers, the humorist and actor who never let the world forget his Oklahoma rearing.

Simultaneous with the Rogers funeral services in California, memorial rites were held at Claremore, where thousands gathered in tribute to the humorist.

The throng in the capitol building extended far beyond the capitol entrances. So choked were the doors and corridors, several persons fainted for lack of ventilation.

After a memorial service, led by Governor E. W. Marland, the final rites followed, in the First Baptist Church. Voice amplifiers carried the service to the audience assembled outside.

Los Angeles, Aug. 22 (Associated Press).—A. G. Carter, prominent Fort Worth, Texas, publisher, and an intimate of Will Rogers for twenty years, to-day revealed that the humorist-actor's gifts to two favorite organizations amounted to thousands of dollars.

Carter said he was with Rogers when he made the first of a series of radio broadcasts for an oil company. The comedian, he said, received $50,000 for seven appearances on the air—and of the sum gave $25,000 to the American Red Cross and $25,000 to the Salvation Army."

"In 1930 alone," the publisher recalled, "he raised over $275,000 for the Red Cross, all of which went for the benefit of humanity, Will paying the expense of the tour, over $12,000, personally."

Dispute Between Russia and Poland Arises Through Expulsions

Canadian Press

Moscow, Aug. 22.—Official press relations between Soviet Russia and Poland have been broken by the cancellation by Poland of the residence permit for the Tass (Soviet) correspondent in Warsaw, following the expulsion of the Polish agency correspondent from Russia.

The charge d'affaires of the Polish embassy called at the Foreign Office Tuesday, the same day Jan Otmar Berson, the Polish correspondent, was expelled from Russia, and informed the Soviet Government Joseph Kovalsky, the Tass correspondent who was here at the time on vacation, would not be permitted to return to Poland.

Karl Radek, government spokesman, in an article in Investia to-day declared the Poles had further retaliated against Bersan's expulsion by arresting Kovalsky's servant in Warsaw and a secretary of the Soviet embassy there.

Radek said there was "a serious political side to the situation," adding Kovalsky's writings were devoted to improving the relations between the two countries, while Berson did "everything possible to make them worse."

ated a new threat for the U.F.A., in power since 1921, and the Conservatives and Liberals.

Before the electorate, William Aberhart, a fifty-six-year-old Calgary high school teacher and founder of a religious institute here, placed a tenpoint platform. Its basic plank is the promise of a $25 monthly dividend to every citizen in the province. The social credit platform calls for assistance for both urban and rural dwellers, establishment of a "just price" to eliminate "all profiteering" and to remove "the demoralizing effect of unemployment."

People who reach the age of fifty would be removed from productive employment through the payment of a monthly dividend or pension.

The farmer government of Premier Reid offers plans for relief from the debt burden by the reduction of interest rates; substantial increases in old age pensions, and aid for agriculturists, including the possibility of crop insurance.

Reform is the keynote of the platform of the Conservative and Liberal platforms. Both parties sponsor a "new deal," with monetary reform singled out as a major plank by the Liberals.

All parties are opposed to the Aberhart plan of social credit, but the Liberals, if elected, would investigate the feasability of a social credit policy for Alberta.

William Aberhart, who has denied his plan of social credit is a "gigantic taxation scheme," is not a candidate. He is ready, however, to take over the premiership. If his party is successful at the polls, a by-election would be called, upon the resignation of a S.C. member, to give him a seat in the Legislature.

The candidates lined up to-day as follows:

|---|---|
| Social Credit League | 93 |
| Liberals | 61 |
| U.F.A. | 45 |
| Conservatives | 39 |
| Labor | 11 |
| Communists | 10 |
| Independents | 7 |
| Independent Labor | 1 |
| Independent Liberal | 1 |
| C.C.F. | 1 |
| Single Taxer | 1 |

Edmonton, Aug. 22—With crowds waiting at every poll in the city, machinery for provincial election swung swiftly into action to-day to receive what is expected to be the largest vote cast in the history of the city.

Weather was warm and bright as jostling crowds milled about the city's forty polling places long before the scheduled time of opening and it was estimated that more than 2,000 votes had been cast within the first half hour.

It was freely predicted the city vote might pass the 35,000 mark compared with 21,189 at the provincial election in 1930.

A perfect August day brought out Calgary voters in strength to-day.

An hour after the polls opened, most of them were jammed and electors were waiting in line ready to cast their ballots.

In the 1930 election approximately 30,000 voted. This year there are nearly 52,000 on the electoral lists.

The early vote in the country was reported to be a record, giving credence to the forecast that 300,000 votes would be cast in the province. There were 188,219 votes in 1930.

One scrutineer chased an impersonator for seven blocks but failed to catch him.

"That's funny," said the scrutineer, "I kno that name well and I know that man has been dead for two years."

Ten minutes later the scrutineer returned.

"He got away," he panted, "but he won't vote here to-day.

"What name did you say," asked a poll clerk.

The name of the dead man was repeated. "That's funny," said the poll clerk, "that man recorded his vote here just two minutes ago.

CHINESE TRIAL IS ADJOURNED

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22—Trial of fourteen Chinese potato growers of Lulu Island, charged with violation of regulations imposed by the British Columbia Coast Vegetable Marketing Board, was adjourned to August 26 when they appeared to-day before Magistrate C. L. Pillmore.

Police allege the Chinese broke through a barrier at Marpole Bridge August 12 and took their early potatoes to market contrary to the board's regulations which require sale through its established agency.

On August 13, also, it is alleged the Chinese again attempted to pass guards at the Marpole bridge and were stopped and their loads of potatoes were taken to the board's warehouses.

DIED IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Rev. Dr. George H. Young of Pasadena, Cal., who has been replacing Rev. Elbert Paul at First Baptist Church here during Mr. Paul's vacation, died yesterday. Dr. Young was pastor of Tremont Baptist Church in Pasadena.

He was taken ill August 14, and was unable to take the services at the First Baptist Church last Sunday.

Former Fishery Inspector Dies

George Davidson Was Merber of First Legislature of Northwest Territories

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Aug. 22. — George S. Davidson, former Inspector of Fisheries for the Dominion Government in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, is dead here, aged eighty-five.

Mr. Davidson, a member of the first legislature of the North West Territories, was born in Listowell, Ont., and came to western Canada in 1885. He settled first at Qu-Appelle, Sask., and later moved to Indian Head, Sask.

Besides serving as a member of the North West Territories legislature for three years, Mr. Davidson was mayor of Indian Head for several years. He moved to Winnipeg when appointed fisheries inspector in 1915 and retired a few years ago.

BUCK'S MONKEYS MAKE ESCAPE

Police Asked to Bring "Capone" and His Mischievous Subjects Back Alive

Associated Press

Massapequa, N.Y., Aug. 22.—Led by the redoubtable "Capone," 175 small monkeys escaped yesterday from Frank Buck's jungle camp on Sunrise Highway, near here.

One of Buck's employees had laid a plank from a retaining wall to the boat, which surrounds the artificial cliffs in which the animals live.

While the employee was busy, "Capone," bully of the colony and instigator of all sorts of trouble, dashed across the plank. A gibbering band of his subjects followed.

After suffering minor scratches and bites, employees succeeded in blocking the escape after 175 monkeys had crossed the plank. Two of the animals were captured.

The chattering horde scampered across the Long Island Railway tracks. An army of 100 railroad laborers dropped their tools and fled.

Nassau county police were asked to bring 'em back alive, since Buck, who is rather good at this sort of thing is in Singapore.

Of the 173 Rhesus monkeys which escaped, the keepers reported one dead. He tried monkeyshine on the third rail of the Long Island Railroad.

Two were captured. They thought they were a match for two Merrick policemen.

About thirty surrendered. They got scared of the dark and sneaked back into Long Island's titiest residence for simians. Those still at large number about 140.

Raids Made on Communists

Associated Press

Santa Rosa, Calif., Aug. 22.—Two men were tarred and feathered and three others ordered to leave town by self-styled vigilants who conducted an all-night series of raids against alleged Communists in Sonora County.

The two tarred and feathered in an outlying district said they were Jack Green, Santa Rosa commercial artist, and Solomon Nitzburg, rancher at Two Rocks near Petaluma, whose residence was the scene of disorder and gunfire.

Newspapermen who trailed the vigilantes said they numbered approximately 300 and traveled throughout the county in about fifty automobiles, the license plates of which had been covered. The drivers and occupants were disguised in old clothing and masked or blackened faces.

The five seized were forced to kiss the American flag before they were released.

Harding Memorial Is Rededicated

Peace and Goodwill Existing Between Canada and United States Emphasized By Kiwanians at Impressive Vancouver Ceremony

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Thousands of Vancouver citizens yesterday joined 1,200 delegates to the eighteenth annual convention of the Pacific Northwest District of Kiwanis under the stately fir trees of Stanley Park to witness the rededication of the Harding Goodwill Memorial.

The words of the late Warren G. Harding, first President of the United States to visit Canada while in office, in an address in Stanley Park, July 26, 1923, were recalled:

"Our protection is in our fraternity, our armor in our faith, the tie that binds more firmly year by year is ever-increasing acquaintance and comradeship through interchange of citizens; and the compact is not of perishable parchment but of fair and honorable dealing which, God grant, shall continue for all time."

Kiwanis International erected the memorial, dedicated September 16, 1925, to commemorate President Harding and the historic event of the first visit of a United States President to Canada.

CONTINUE TO LIVE

"Many are missing to-day who were here ten years ago, but this memorial will continue to live," said Harper Gatton of Madisonville, Ky., president of Kiwanis International, delivering the rededication address.

"It is fitting, therefore, that we assemble here to rededicate and reconsecrate our lives to peace and goodwill.

"This monument stands to-day as an outstanding achievement of any service club of any time, and just as surely as the marble and bronze have smiled in the icy blasts of winter and the relentless rage of the summer sun without effacement or harm, so surely shall the peoples of our two countries continue to live in peaceful pursuits and brotherly endeavors."

A notable personage in attendance was John H. Moss of Milwaukee, international president of Kiwanis when the memorial was dedicated and one of the men principally responsible for its erection.

The United States was officially represented by Hon. Clarence D. Martin, governor of the State of Washington, and Canada by Hon. George M. Weir, British Columbia Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education.

Referring to the progress in recovery of Washington and British Columbia Governor Martin said: "We need more than an innate desire to bring a return of prosperity. We need a patriotic citizenship—"a citizenship," he continued sweeping his arm toward the Canadian and American flags draped over the memorial, "that will respect those flags and respect constituted authority. When we have that, with the great natural resources at our hands, and the feeling of goodwill which prevails between our two countries, then we will again enter a great era of prosperity."

All Countries Manufacturing

Was Not Wholly Cause of Depressions, Says French Economist

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—The Great War helped to hasten the present economic condition of the world, but blame for the depression can not be placed entirely on its shoulders according to the belief of Dr. Andrew Siegfried, famous French economist and historian, who yesterday addressed a service club here.

For centuries Europe has been the centre of gravity for the economic world, buying raw products from other continents and shipping them back as manufactured products. This order changed with the advent of the twentieth century, Dr. Siegfried said, with each continent wanting to be a manufacturing continent.

In order to meet these changes European countries must use her genius to produce certain superior lines which the world needs and which she alone can supply, he believes, and it is only in this way that she can accomplish the necessary adjustments.

Serum Combats Equine Disease

Canadian Press

Carnduff, Sask., Aug. 22.—Closely guarded is the secret process used by Dr. C. M. Dunnigan, Carduff, veterinary surgeon, in successfully treating encephalomyletis among horses of southeastern Saskatchewan. According to Dr. Dunnigan, 81 per cent of the horses treated with this serum make good recovery.

He said to-day the serum was manufactured in Canada and ordinarily was used for another condition than the fly disease which has afflicted many prairie horses. A different method of hypodermic injection is used. Dr. Dunnigan said he would not make public his method until he had reported to federal officials.

GORDON ESTATE IS PROBATED

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Letters probate were granted out of Supreme Court yesterday in the estate of Lemuel Laird Gordon, former president of Gordon and Belyea Ltd., who died June 26. The estate, which goes to the widow and three children, all in Vancouver, was entered for probate at $186,151.

TWO FRACTURES

Mission, B.C., Aug. 22.—Henry Edwards, Hatzic fisherman, was in the hospital here to-day with two broken legs suffered at the Fraser Logging Company's log dump when a log allegedly jumped the gap between a boom and the dump and struck him above the ankles.

EAGLES ATTACK FIRE RANGER

Associated Press

Port Angeles, Wash., Aug. 22.—Two large bald eagles dove at Wallace R. Edwards, twenty-two-year-old fire lookout on Ludden Peak, and continued to swoop at him as if to attack until he was able to reach heavy timber, 1,000 feet below.

Edwards swung a stick in the air as he ran down the trail, and kept the huge birds from hitting him.

Edwards, a lookout in the Mount Olympus national monument, said the attacking birds previously chased away six smaller eagles.

FARMERS SCARE STRIKERS AWAY

Charleston, Ill., Aug. 22.—Armed with rifles and shotguns farm owners yesterday drove back 100 striking broomcorn field workers without firing a shot when the dissatisfied men sought to force workers to leave the Jose Driscoll place, north of here.

More than 300 landowners, organized into a mutually protective group, rallied at the Driscoll farm when scouts reported the approach of the strikers.

The men working in the field, numbering about fifty, resumed their labors when the strikers, apparently cowed by the show of arms, returned to Charleston.

POSSIBILITIES FOR 1936

WITH AUTUMN DAYS DRAWING near, we are reminded that 1936 is not so far away—and 1936 above many other things on this continent means presidential election year in the United States.

Party managers are now scanning the horizon for possibilities as "candidatorial timber." That is, Republican party managers only, as there is no question of President Roosevelt being the candidate of the Democrats for a second term.

A Republican national committee executive in Washington has prepared a list of twenty-four "possibilities." The pragmatically-inclined press correspondents at the capital have whittled the list down to about half a dozen, considering the chances of the other one and one-half dozen not worth the wire tolls involved in disseminating their names.

Col. Frank Knox, of the Chicago Daily News, is one whose name remains prominently on the pruned list. With him are Senator McNary and Senator Steiwer, both of Oregon; Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas; Congressman James W. Wadsworth of New York, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan—all men of outstanding accomplishments and proven in public service.

It was Senator Vandenberg who, as a member of the Senate munitions committee, only the other day said: "I refuse to subscribe to the absurd philosophy that I immediately become a Socialist or a Communist if I happen to hit the war system which has crucified this world for a thousand years . . . I decline to allow the radical parties to enjoy a monopoly of that great-thinking, clear-thinking, right-thinking effort which proposes, if possible, to quarantine this war monster and save the generation of to-morrow from crucifixion."

Conspicuously absent from the list is the name of Herbert Hoover. In speeches he has been angling for a nomination to vindicate the result of 1932. But for Mr. Hoover it is a forlorn hope, as "they never come back" seems to have become pretty much an unbroken rule now in politics. Besides, the name Hoover, rightly or wrongly, is synonymous with too much that occurred around the year 1929 that the nation would prefer to forget.

Senator Borah of Idaho, one of the most brilliant and aggressive minds of the country, a great speaker, is not on the preferred list. Why? One correspondent gave the complete answer when he said: "It would take the kind of Republican party you never saw before to give such a notorious independent a look-in." Borah has always been the magnificent lone eagle.

Another reason accounts for the absence of Pat Hurley, a former secretary of war, who had expected to be considered front-line material and had actually got himself on the list. Those skilled in the art of handicapping explain that Mr. Hurley is too much loaded with political liabilities. For one thing, he was associated with what has gone down as "the prize political boner of the century" when he precipitated the battle of Washington by calling out the troops to drive out veterans comprising the bonus army before they had a chance to state their case to President Hoover. On top of that, Mr. Hurley has been forced to admit that as a lobbyist-lawyer he had received $100,000 in fees from the Associated Gas and Electric, which has come out of the recent inquiry at Washington, rating pretty low in popularity as far as utility companies go. That in itself would seem to about finish him off politically.

Thus the weeding out of the lightweights goes on as the party measures the political stature and virtues of its "possibilities." Election day in November, 1936, will be the great judgment day on the New Deal, Rooseveltism and all its works.

SELASSIE VERSUS MUSSOLINI

GIORNALE D'ITALIA, ITALIAN GOVernment organ, to-day says that those British newspapers which are supporting sanctions—part of the League of Nations machinery designed to stop war—"mean war," and goes on to say that these same newspapers supporting sanctions are working for war—"a war transferred from Africa to Europe and from Europe into all parts of the world where a great nation which feels itself menaced wishes to defend itself and can find its actions for defence useful."

The Italian newspaper rounds out its argument with this: "The English newspapers which have supported Ethiopia have contributed to augment the number of Ethiopia's offences against Italy and the number of Italian victims fallen at the hands of Ethiopia; they have also augmented the accounting which Ethiopia must make to Italy."

There are other views on this question of especial interest to Canadians. We get this from Winnipeg: "A statement issued to-day by the National Council of the Native Sons of Canada calls on the Canadian League of Nations representatives to support proposals for economic action by the League against Italy if it attacks Ethiopia in violation of its obligations." The Council follows up with this: "Seeing the possibility of Canada being drawn into a conflict arising from the situation, the statement declared no expeditionary force should be sent out of the country until a nation-wide plebiscite has been taken."

Then comes this from Addis Ababa: "The soft voice of Emperor Haile Selassie, a gentle-eyed figure seated in the dim-lit throne room of the imperial palace, to-day was lifted in prayer to prevent his 7,000-year-old kingdom of Ethiopia from being drenched in blood.

"'God, give me the patience and courage to hold back my army until all efforts for peace are exhausted,' he said in a private interview. 'We shall not be the first to draw blood.'

"'I still have faith in England,' he continued. 'I am still hopeful the League of Nations will work out a solution. But if a war desecrates our soil, an order for blood must come and we are ready to preserve the kingdom our fathers gave us.

"'We would be untrue to our great past, which goes beyond biblical times, and we would stain our proud record of victories if we failed in our duty.

"'If Italy attempts to conquer us,' he said earnestly, 'we shall repeat our victory of Adua. We shall be strong because we must.'"

There is a striking contrast between the mental outlook of the "King of Kings" and the man who overshadows King Victor Emmanuel that ought to impress the world.

IT DID NOT WORK

MORE THAN FIVE YEARS AGO, MR. Bennett, the present Prime Minister of Canada, introduced what he termed a "Canada First" policy. It is fitting at this time to consider what that policy has done for this Dominion of ours. In the summer of 1930, our foreign trade stood at $2,654,000,000, but under Bennettism it fell to as low as $887,000,000. True, it has now, under a gradual world economic recovery, got back over the billion-dollar mark; but it still is a long way from the mark of 1930.

It will have to be admitted that under the "Canada First" policy—much as we want Canada to be first—we have become one of the most highly-protected countries in the world, the result of which is our very serious unemployment problem—10 per cent of our population on relief in one form or another.

We are now in the throes of a federal general election and as the campaign proceeds it is apparent that Conservative candidates either are misinformed as to the tariff activities of the government or lack of courage to stand by the fiscal policy emphatically enunciated by Mr. Bennett in 1930 and persistently practised since September of that year.

It should be remembered that the chief issue of the 1930 campaign was, in substance, high tariff versus low tariff. The Liberal tariff was an instrument of revenue—a tax. It was not protective in the sense of preventing a healthy, far-reaching flow of foreign trade. Steady reductions of tariff during the nine years of Liberal rule had reduced the Canadian tariff to a point lower than it was in 1907, when our tariff was revised by the Laurier government.

In the twenty-three years that ensued, 1907-1930, there were many tariff changes. During the Conservative Union government regimes the trend was upward; following the 1921 election it was downward until, as stated, the rates of duty were lower than at any time since the turn of the century.

The Conservative Party, in 1930, sought a mandate to destroy Canada's import trade. Mr. Bennett believed that there was no connection between imports and exports and that export markets could be retained regardless of whether this country accepted imports in payment. The results have proved this assumption to be wrong. The "Canada First" tariff in strangling imports also strangled exports, piling our great primary products up into high unsold surpluses and destroying the purchasing power of the primary producers, particularly of western farmers.

But this was the Bennett policy to end unemployment. He believed in 1930 that by raising the tariff, thousands of unemployed could be put to work forthwith, making the goods which had been imported and that within a few months unemployment would disappear. No further comment is necessary.

This dispatch from Ottawa yesterday is illuminating: "Grape fruit juice entering Canada from the British West Indies will be admitted free of duty, according to an order-in-council made public to-day. It now enters under a tariff of 15 per cent preference, 25 per cent intermediate and general, with a special rate of 12½ per cent from the British West Indies. The reduction was made on representations by Trinidad exporters." At least Mr. Bennett will go out of office knowing that the tasty contents of the tin can from Trinidad will be poured into Canada more easily.

Most people will wonder why the League of Nations does not do its duty. If Mussolini shall bring on a war with Abyssinia, what will be the use of the League of Nations? It is a thousand pities that President Roosevelt—who loathes war, as do 130,000,000 Americans—does not say to Italy that there shall be no credit or anything which will help a country which, apparently, has made up its mind to subdue what is supposed to be considered a "backward country?"

FATHER'S VACATION

His two weeks of pleasure have left him a little worse off than before.
He is battered and blistered and bitten, and he has a fracture to show
Where a great chunk of ice jumped right out of the box and landed kerplunk on his toe.

Father is rounding out fifty, but youth is still strong in his breast,
And he was for filling each minute with action, excitement and zest.
They rubbed all the skin off his heels and his shins and he can't get a shoe on at all.

Then father fell out of the hammock with a loud and a terrible thwack,
And his elbows won't bend as they ought to and something is wrong with his back.
But no time had he to recover, his two weeks would swiftly be o'er,
So father went riding on horseback just to suffer a little bit more.

Once a fish hook got caught in his finger; so strangely do tragedies come!
And while mending the screen door for mother he carelessly hammered his thumb.
But now he is back in the city, just a wreck of the father we knew,

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

BUCHAN'S BOOKS

The Border Cities Star

Since it was announced that John Buchan would be Canada's next Governor-General, it has become impossible to get a single Buchan book at the London Public Library, so great is the demand for his works. Usually a new occupant of Rideau Hall has to have somebody else recommend him. Mr. Buchan is making a good job of it himself.

Loose Ends

"Out by the river, life really begins—while you are still sunk in civilized slumber — and we follow the river trail with Sumallo Bill—in search of trout—and something more important.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

ON THE TRAIL

ON THE LEFT is the dim forest, where the first light shines down in thin streaks, as through the windows of a Gothic church. On the right is the river that talks in many voices, now roaring with mighty laughter, now singing a soft, sad little song to itself. In front is old Sumallo Bill Robinson, sliding over the trail with a kind of effortless, motionless motion, as a creature of the woods might walk. Behind, we struggle along, with seventy pounds on our backs and we wallow clumsily through the mud holes like overloaded elephants.

It is barely dawn yet. Back in town you won't be awake at all. There will be no one on the streets of Victoria. The stop-and-go lights will be dead. The world of civilized men will be sunk in deepest unconsciousness with a vile animal snoring. For three days now I haven't seen you or thought about you—a glorious relief—for us both. More glorious still, I haven't seen myself, except for an occasional dark shadow of my head in the rushing green water; but my companions tell me that, unshaven and seldom washed, I look pretty bad. With luck, I shall not see myself for several days yet and every such day is doubly precious.

SINGLE FILE

WE MARCH ON in single file through the forest as the world of men begins to wake up and face another day of civilization, of economics, of politics. Here we have no civilization. Our economics are on a perfectly sound and satisfactory basis, for we still have half a side of bacon, some pancake flour, half a tin of strawberry jam, some beans, and there are fish in the river. Of politics we are quite innocent, except that each of us tries to out-manoeuvre the other on the trail so as to be next to Sumallo Bill and hear his comments on the world at large

Our next camping place, says Bill, is only a "tiny wee little way" down the river. No matter how far we walk it is always just a tiny wee little way further. Our soft city backs are aching now. Our seventy pounds seem like seven hundred and the weight of nations on our shoulders. You feel the burden of life on the trail on a morning like this. It would be good for all our governors if they could pack seventy pounds on their backs through the grey dawn. It would humble them and make them realize what a frail thing man is after all; how dependent he is on society at large; how ill-equipped for looking after himself. Only the bears and a few fellows like Bill, sliding over the trail ahead of us without apparent motion, can live in these woods alone.

We slosh through the mud holes, where the lush undergrowth, wetted by yesterday's rain, pours gallons of water down our necks. We climb up by the Devil's Elbow where the moss-covered rocks hang clear over the trail and the green river chuckles at its own jokes a hundred feet straight down below. We pause for a few minutes to rest and Bill points to half a dozen white spots high up on the bare mountain across the river—mountain that live up there several thousand feet above the world and have never heard of us or the depression or the Ethiopians or the federal election. (The goat is one of the most intelligent of animals).

HOUSEKEEPING

FINALLY, ABOUT THE TIME you are getting settled down to the day's grind; about the time the traffic lights start to wink on Douglas Street; about the time the young bloods of the village slip out of the office to drink a cup of coffee at the corner, we cover the tiny wee little way and reach our next camping place, beside a grove of giant cedars, where the river swirls with a quiet murmur past our feet.

There, hours before the meal time

THERE IS NO BETTER FUEL THAN KIRK'S
Nanaimo-Wellington
COAL
1239 BROAD ST. G 3241

of civilization, we have our lunch, wolfing quantities of grease and jam that would revolt you and make any civilized dog ill. But we are toughened to it now. Our stomachs can handle anything, even our own pancakes that taste like the pure airs of heaven but probably would seem like round discs of cowhide to you. After squatting around the smoky fire for several days, we all smell like kippered herrings and look rather like them, too.

The next thing is to make a permanent camp, for we may be here two days. Only in making camp does man experience the sheer joy of the robin building his nest in the spring; of the young bride furnishing her first apartment. We select our furniture with care for, though it is simple and unpretentious it must be serviceable and of exactly the right size and design—cedar poles to carry our tent, thick, green and incombustible alder stakes and crossbars to carry our pots above the fire, hemlock branches to make our beds.

Here, in bed making, the woodsman's art reaches its highest perfection—big branches first to form the springs, smaller branches above, all thatched together with butts well hidden, to form the mattress, a layer of fine cedar twigs over all to make the sheets, and there you have a bed fit for a king, even for a king of the wilderness, like Sumallo Bill.

TROUT

BY THIS TIME the trout are beginning to rise in the river, in the shade of the overhanging alders. The westering sun is fast nearing the edge of the narrow valley about us. Bill thinks maybe we'd better start fishing. We have heard rumors of fishermen who could pull one out at every cast, of ravenous trout that would eat anything from a Royal Coachman to a piece of red flannel. Never believe such tales.

We have to work for our fish and work hard. We have to wade the river up to our middles, holding hands, all four of us, lest we be swept down, and there is nothing quite as cold as a British Columbia mountain stream, fresh from its mother, the glacier; nothing that chills you through like this and makes your feet ache with the stab of it. We have to wade and wallow and crawl on hands and knees through the thick devil's club on the mud banks when we could get perfectly good fish sitting in a boat at Brentwood or in a fish store on Yates Street, which is much the same thing.

But the fish are worth all the trouble. Earth holds nothing quite like the thrill of a fly alighting on the water swinging down for a second with the current and then the sudden swish and jerk that means that a rainbow has struck. And see him fight, bending your rod double, taking out yards of line, leaping into the air and shaking his head, diving under a log jam, sulking in the bottom of a deep pool, dashing off again, just as you think he is ready for the landing net.

DRY FLIES

BEST OF ALL, use a dry fly and let it float down a quiet pool, as natural as the other flies that float beside it. Yes, try a dry fly, even though it is sacrilege unless you belong to the great secret order of dry fly fishermen who, like the Cabots of Boston in the old rhyme, talk only to God. Don't let all the mumbo-jumbo of the art terrify you. Forget what the young man in the fishing tackle store on Government Street said to discourage you, how he almost refused to sell you dry flies at all and intimated that only an artist deserved to own any.

Forget all that and cast your dry fly, gently across the stream and watch it float down. And see a two-pounder appear from nowhere, sweep downstream, turn with a flash of his white belly and suck in the fly with a snort. And then feel that quick sharp jerk on the rod that acts on the fisherman's nervous system like an electric shock.

Yes, after a few days of that, you can look the young man in the fishing tackle shop squarely in the eye, and talk as an equal to the dry fly fishermen who talk only to God. Indeed, after learning to cast a dry fly so that it floats, wings well up, one feels that he is condescending a good deal even to talk to fellows like you at all.

Finally, at dusk, after wading again through the river up to the middle and floundering through the devil's club, a camp fire, a steaming hot meal, and a change of socks and pants give you the highest satisfaction the finest ecstasy of which our species is capable. Yes, here we are, luxuriating in dry socks and pants, full of fresh fried trout, beans, flapjacks and strawberry jam, and you, poor creature are listening to the politicians on the radio or Joan Crawford in the movies. Here there is no sound but Sumallo Bill yarning about fish, and the evening song of the river.

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Now, can you promise that this house will be delivered by Monday? We've asked a lot of people out."

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

AUGUST 22, 1910

(From The Times Files)

Angus Smith, city engineer, has inaugurated a new system in connection with the wood block paving now in progress on Douglas Street on the section running from Humboldt to Fisgard. The blocks are being laid diagonally across the street at an angle of 22½ degrees.

* * *

Of the cricket games opening the tournament this morning, the best stand was made by Barnacle and Martin of the Victoria Club against the Albions. At lunch these two batsmen were still together, the partnership having been responsible for 100 runs. In the same match Gillespie made 23.

* * *

Mr. Mackenzie, president of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, is expected to visit Victoria again on or about September 6 for the purpose of conferring with Premier McBride in regard to the route to be followed by the railway from Victoria to Barkley Sound.

* * *

Members of the Victoria Y.M.C.A. and Life Saving Club were on Saturday afternoon successful in capturing first place in every event on the programme for the Vancouver Island swimming championships, held at the Gorge.

* * *

Excavating for the foundation of a $65,000 apartment house to be built by the Mount Edwards' Apartment House Syndicate, has been started on the corner of Vancouver Street and Coutts's Way, and it is expected that the building, which is to be the largest and most modern of its kind on Vancouver Island, will be completed within six months.

* * *

Resignations were received by the school board and accepted at a meeting held on Saturday from James R. Pollock, principal of South Park School, and Miss M. A. Johnson, of the Spring Ridge School staff. The trustees expressed their regret at losing the services of these two competent school teachers who have done such faithful work.

Other People's Views

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 600 words. Henceforth it positively will not print communications which exceed that length.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication. If they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

These rules, which henceforth will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

CAUTION!

The Times will not assume responsibility for the return to the writers of articles sent for publication in the Correspondence Column or anywhere else in this newspaper, whether they are published or not, unless they have been specially solicited.

RE SECTION 98

To the Editor:—I am sorry that I found Robt. D. Harvey's letter in your paper of the 20th inst. quite as unconvincing as his previous one. I don't profess to believe, as Mr. Harvey asserts, that an innocent man can be convicted of being a member of an unlawful association by attending one of its meetings because, in the eyes of the law, such a man cannot be innocent unless he can prove himself so. It is not a question of an innocent man being convicted. It is a question of a man, guilty by implication, being obliged to prove innocence, which is a very different thing.

If, as Mr. Harvey says, the unsupported evidence of a convicted man, given under oath, is all that is necessary to procure the reversal of a verdict of guilty, then I must confess myself even more ignorant of our system of jurisprudence than I thought I was.

As for the line of pleading suggested by Mr. Harvey as meeting the requirements of a man who is obliged to prove his innocence, I am inclined to believe it would be unsuccessful. As all our revolutions, notably those of 1642, 1688 and 1776, were fought under the banner of democracy, a condition we are still hoping to achieve, it is unlikely that professing a belief in it would be looked upon favorably by an oligarchal government or the instruments by means of which such a type of government imposes its will upon the people.

BELIEVER IN DEMOCRACY.

FALL FAIR PLANS MADE

Annual Exhibition at Saanichton to be Held Sept. 17 and 18

At a meeting of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society recently, plans were completed for the society's sixty-seventh annual fall exhibition in the Agricultural Hall and grounds at Saanichton on September 17 and 18.

On Friday evening, September 27 the annual ball will be held in the Agricultural Hall.

The ladies of the society will take charge of the catering for both fair days and the annual ball.

Under the general superintendence of George T. Michell, the exhibition committees are as follows this year: Horses, Alan Calvert and R. Mathews; cattle, H. C. Oldfield, H. E. Burbridge, Capt. C. R. Wilson, Ralph Rendle, L. C. Hagen and Capt. C. F. Gibson; sheep and swine, Chris Moses and Alan Calvert; goats, Mrs. F. Burton and J. M. Malcolm; poultry, C. H. Borden, C. L. Styan and E. F. Racey; eggs, C. H. Borden and W. J. H. Miller; grains, grasses, seeds, etc., G. T. Michell and J. A. Nunn; field roots for stock and potatoes, W. D. Michell, G. Little and J. M. Malcolm; vegetables, J. A. Nunn, G. Little, J. M. Malcolm, F. Butler and W. H. Brown; fruit, D. H. Heyer, H. E. Tanner, F. Turgoose and Colin A. Chisolm; flowers, Mrs. B. M. Deacon, Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Primeau and Mrs. G. W. Malcolm; jams, bottled fruits, etc., Mrs. W. D. Michell, Mrs. J. Wilkinson and Mrs. A. McKenzie; dairy produce and household arts, Mrs. A. G. Smith and Mrs. L. H. MacQueen; honey, L. C. Hagen; ladies' work, Mrs. J. L. Mosher, Mrs. H. E. Tanner, Mrs. A. Hafer and Miss E. Jeune; school work, Mrs. A. G. Smith, Mrs. R. C. Parberry, Miss M. MacKenzie, Miss C. M. McNab, Miss Brogan, Miss M. Lowe, Miss J. Charlebois and James Ramsay; amateur photography, V. E. L. Goddard and Miss Hillary Bastin; Indian department, Rev. W. Lemmens and Miss Morry; school sports, James Nimmo, W. Turgoose, Ralph Bagley, John Jukes, Robert Brydon, Alec Gunn, E. Oakes and Basil Wright; highland events, R. E. Nimmo, Pipe-Major D. Cameron, J. H. Dewar, R. Brydon, A. G. Smith and Ian Douglas; dog show, Lieut.-Col. F. D. Davidson, Mrs. N. R. Brodhurst and Arthur Lock; decorations, etc., Mrs. H. Hughes, Mrs. E. W. Hammond and Mrs. J. J. White.

The Dr. S. F. Tolmie Silver Challenge Cup for best draft team not less than 1,500 pounds.

The Archdeacon Dewdney Challenge Shield, to be awarded the exhibitor obtaining the highest number of points for horses, cattle, sheep or swine.

The Mrs. A. J. B. Dewdney Silver Challenge Cup and miniature for best heifer exhibited by any member of the Boys' and Girls' Jersey Club.

The city of Victoria Challenge Cup with miniature for best cow with R.O.P. record, 500 pounds butterfat or more in 305 days.

The Royal Bank of Canada Silver Challenge Cup and miniature to be awarded to the exhibitor obtaining most points in the Holstein cattle section.

The British Columbia Goat Breeders' Association Challenge Cup for best herd of three pure bred goats, any breed (mature goat over two years, in milk; yearling, not freshened, and a kid).

J. W. Tolmie Silver Challenge Cup and miniature cup for best collection of vegetables, twelve distinct kinds.

Canadian Bank of Commerce Silver Cup for best miscellaneous collection of Saanich grown fruit.

The second day of the fair, September 18, will be visitors' day, and there will be a programme of sports and highland events in connection.

A team drawing contest, an open air dog show and field sheep dog trials for which the Tulock Kennels are donating a silver challenge cup will be among the special feature.

The trophies to be competed for in the school sports are as follow: The Norman Whittaker Challenge Cup for school sports' winners; the David Spencer Limited Challenge Cup for school of five rooms or more making the most points in the school sports; the Saanich Board of Trade Challenge Cup for any school of three or four rooms making the most points, and the W. O. Wallace Challenge Cup for most points made by any school of one or two rooms.

In the highland events the Adeline Grant Silver Challenge Cup for sword dance and Saanich Pioneer Society's Silver Challenge Cup to the set winning the old-time Canadian quadrilles contest are two of the big trophies.

Papers Merge In New Zealand

Christchurch, N.Z., Aug. 22.—Oldest and youngest respectively of New Zealand's daily newspapers, The Times and The Sun recently passed out of the picture following amalgamations of local publishing interests.

The goodwill of The Times was acquired by the Christchurch Press and that of The Sun by The Christchurch Star. The Press is the only morning paper now published in this city and The Star the only evening paper.

The Times had been published continuously since 1851 when English colonists came to this part of New Zealand bringing necessary equipment for newspaper publication with them. Many noted writers have been connected with the paper.

Dimitroff Gets Zinovieff's Post

Associated Press

Moscow, Aug. 22.—G. Dimitroff, the Communist exiled from Germany after being acquitted of the Reichstag arson plot, yesterday was elected secretary-general of the Communist Internationale at a meeting of the executive committee. The post had been vacant since 1926 when Gregory Zinovieff fell from favor and was ousted.

SCOTCH ARTISTS GIVE PROGRAMME

Yesterday evening was Scots' night aboard the Inner Harbor show boat, when a large audience enthusiastically applauded the programme arranged by the Burns Club. Bob Smith acted as chairman.

The entertainment included vocal and instrumental numbers, with Highland dances contributed by twelves local "lassies," accompanied by Piper Ian Duncan. Miss Jessie Smith was the piano accompanist.

The programme included: "Blue Bonnets," by J. Matheson; "Calleroo" and "Land of Heart's Desire," sung by Miss Isabelle Crawford; Melville Castle" and "Afton Water" and "Leesie Lindsay," Mrs. Bertram Mayall; "Banks and Braes" and "Eriskay Love Lilt," Mrs. Florence Gunn; "End of the Road" and "Hail Caledonia," George Gray.

The instrumental entertainment was furnished by James Mossop, cornetist, playing "Lassie o' Mine" and "Annie Laurie." Miss Lillian Grant played the Prince of Wales' composition, "Mallorcha," and E. A. Cartwright, violinist, played familiar Scottish airs.

Coming Poll Means Much to Province

"If some untoward incident were to happen in Europe during the next two months, here we are in Canada without a Parliament and with a government which is entirely out of accord with public opinion and desire. A government which has lost the confidence of the people, or for that matter, a government which may still have the confidence of the people should not remain in office for weeks and maybe months after the expiration of the Parliamentary term.

"Another thing that should not be permitted is the unseeming deluge of appointments to important offices of men who have lost the confidence of the people."

It was generally conceded from one end of Canada to the other, he said, that the next government will be a Liberal government under the leadership of Mr. King. Assuming this to be the case, the question arose as to what course the people of British Columbia should take.

"You will recall that your provincial government has repeatedly urged that primary responsibility to deal with the problem of unemployment—which is still the most important problem confronting us—rests with the Dominion authority — the provinces and municipalities to cooperate Obviously, therefore, a national organization should be created to formulate necessary measures and to coordinate all effort to that end.

"Mr. Mackenzie King has declared that a national unemployment commission should be set up along the lines indicated. It strikes me that this is all to the good and for the first time we shall be approaching this difficult problem from the right angle.

PUBLIC WORKS

"With regard to public works to provide jobs, consistently advocated by the provincial government, said the Premier, the federal Liberal leader makes the positive statement that a works programme is essential and indicates various directions in which such work could be profitably be carried on, such as roads and bridges, schools and hospitals, waterworks and sewers, reforestation, park beautification, removal level grade railway crossings, slum clearance, in fact any measures which are essentially of a public character rather than of private effort.

"Corelated with the matter of a works programme is the stimulation of trade," he continued.

"You are aware of course that your provincial government has been giving exhaustive study to the trade conditions of British Columbia. We know in definite figures that our trade balance with the rest of Canada is against us while our trade balance with all other countries as a whole is in our favor.

"Tariff and freight rates are responsible in large measure for the adverse balance of trade against us with eastern Canada, and there must be a readjustment to place us on a sounder basis economically in the Confederation of Canada. A country as rich and resourceful as this province, with new development constantly in progress, can survive a considerable period of adverse trade conditions, but we have reached the point where we must place ourselves in a more favorable position in the Confederation of Canada. Only through favorable balance of trade with other countries has it been possible for us to buy the goods which we have purchased from the provinces of Ontario and Quebec.

"Everyone knows that British Columbia can only prosper through export of our primary products. There is no local market to absorb our output of timber, minerals, fish, fur and agricultural products. We simply must have an outside market.

TARIFF REVISION

"To stimulate private endeavor and thereby create further employment, we have the pronouncement of Mr. King to the effect that his government will endeavor to increase our trade with all countries through the removal of unwise tariff restrictions and by reciprocal arrangements, and he mentions especially Great Britain. In other words, through increase of trade there will be more employment and consequently greater prosperity.

Referring to proposed revision of the British North America Act, he said B.C. would insist that sufficient sources of revenue shall be allocated to the provinces to enable both the provinces and the municipalities within the provinces to properly carry on.

Mr. King had said that the ease with which it will be possible to effect a revision of the B.N.A. Act will astonish some of the leaders of other political parties.

MARKETING

Dealing with the Marketing Act, Premier Pattullo declared:

It is generally recognized that the old theory of demand and supply will not meet present conditions. There must be regulation if industry is to prosper — regulation in distribution and marketing conditions — just as there must be regulation of hours of work and minimum wages.

"Our provincial government is committed to a policy of assistance through regulation in the marketing of various products. We cannot return to the old policy of hit or miss, and we propose to cooperate with the national authority in legislation which, while experimental will gradually place industry under the act upon a basis profitable to producer and consumer alike. Concurrently with regulation of our products goes the regulation of hours of work and minimum wages, so that producer and consumer will be placed upon a fair basis. There will be greater purchasing power, consequently a large consumption, so that the producer may receive a fair price for his product without injury to the consumer.

"Mr. King says that the act will be not repealed but will be amended to eliminate objectionable features. This act, which is of major importance is difficult to work out in proportion to its importance and we have found provincially that we have had to alter ground from time to time but the measure remains to be worked out as circumstances and conditions dictate."

After touching upon other policies in the Liberal platform, Premier Pattullo said:

"Is is not abundantly clear from what I have already enumerated that the interests of British Columbia lie in sending a solid representation in support of the new administration?

"But there are other reasons why British Columbia at this time should seize the opportunity now presented to further the best interests of the province.

"We propose to ask the cooperation of the Dominion Government, not only in measures which are common to other provinces as well as ourselves, but in specific measures where cooperation and assistance of the federal authority is necessary, such for example, as the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, also the opening up of the northern portion of British Columbia.

"GO NORTH"

"To-day it is not go west, but go north. There is an empire in the northern portion of the province which will not only benefit those who go there, but will create a tremendous business to the benefit of the people of the south.

"Recent elections in the Dominion of Canada have returned Liberal governments. They have returned these governments because the policies for which these governments stand are more and more in accord with the spirit of the times. Each of the political parties has adherents who cannot be swerved from their allegiance. But there is a large body of opinion which is attracted to no party and this opinion exercises a potent influence upon the outcome of elections. It is beyond doubt recognized that new methods and new treatment are necessary to meet the present-day problems. That is what the Liberal Party recognizes and proposes to execute without turning our country into a regimental socialistic state. We must remove the thumb screws but we must be sure not to land ourselves into the straight-jacket."

THE WINDING BEAUTY OF ISLAND HIGHWAY

Holiday Season Rapidly Drawing To Close

Take Advantage Now of Fine Weather and Perfect Summer Resorts on Island

To those who linger . . . who wait just another day . . . a word of warning. Get out of doors! To-morrow! This week-end! Don't wait . . . go now! While the hours are still filled with sunlight and blue sky. Look about you . . . there is a gentle haze on the horizon . . . a softness in the air. Summer is waning! In the lazy stirring of slowly redening leaves, the slow swaying of heavy headed flowers, there is written a knowledge of growth completed. Nature is resting . . . and while she rests the skies are bluer, all outdoors seems richer, warmer and more alluring. Listen to its call . . . and get out in the open. Now!

Vancouver Island, from its very southernmost point, where the city of Victoria nestles like a gleaming seashell, far up into its mountainous hinterlands, holds a wealth of possibilities for a holiday. Of added interest is the fact that every one of its many summer resorts and districts are easily accessible, whether it be seaside, lake or mountain.

GOOD ROADS

Motor roads on the island are good, well surfaced and hard . . . the Island Highway extending from Victoria far up the eastern coast to Campbell River and Forbes Landing being favorably commented on by visiting motorists throughout the season. From this main road many side roads wind away into the hills. Those who follow these trails will find fascinating resorts nestled in the most unexpected places along the way. A daily motor bus service is maintained to many places on the island and special week-end trips are arranged to other places of interest. A daily train service also connects Victoria with every place of interest on the island.

Vancouver Island's resorts are of the finest—splendid hotels, modern in every way, that combine taste and beauty with every possible convenience to tempt the guest. Then, too, there are well-kept up-to-date auto camps all along the highway. Many of them rival in convenience the larger and more pretentious hotels.

A WEALTH OF BEAUTY

Vancouver Island offers so many places to find and explore, it defies written description to make a choice of the best. At each point of interest there is such a diversified form of pleasure, there should be no trouble in pleasing all. There are lakes . . . some that nestle deep in woodlands, some that reflect the blue mountain skies. There are rivers . . . that rush and tumble in spraying foam over wild rocks, others calm and deep that wind in unhurrying calm toward the sea. Beaches . . . a continuous line of soft warm sands, where curling waves ripple and dance.

And mountains and hills, some snow capped the whole year through. At this time of year, brooding over all is that still warm light, hazy . . . indefinite . . . a golden glow that dances before the eyes and whispers a message to all. The summer is waning! The thrill of a perfect holiday can only be savored if it is taken now . . . It is within the reach of all.

Vancouver Island is waiting! Waiting in all the beauty of completed growth. Waiting to disclose its wonders and its perfect vacation spots and to give everyone a holiday to remember and talk about for many months to come.

TO ALL POINTS ON VANCOUVER ISLAND

CORDOVA BAY STILL POPULAR

Just Half-hour Run From Victoria; Clean White Sand

So close to Victoria it is possible to reach it within half an hour—yet so situated that it might be miles away from the outsoundnets of a city—Cordova Bay, in its own quiet way has maintained and increased its popularity as a summer resort until now it ranks as one of the finest on Vancouver Island. It boasts a large summer colony and many pretty homes from small cabins to pretentious bungalows nestle among the trees along the shore. The sweeping curve of the beach extends in a long ribbon of white sand the full length of the bay. Out beyond is a wide sand bar that at low tide makes an ideal playground for young and old. When the tide has turned and the waves are running in there is warm salt bathing and for the more ardent swimmer the deep water beyond.

Cordova Bay offers the vacationist a varied programme of summer fun. There are boats for hire and canoes to paddle; surf board riding and speed boats for those who love a thrill; woodland trails and stiff climbs for the hikers and an abundance of fish in the bay for the fishermen. There are dances during the week in open air pavilions along the shore and big bonfires on the beach. Out beyond the entrance to the bay are many islands and expeditions can be arranged to explore these wooded shores. Every minute of a long or short vacation will be filled with something different and something new.

McMORRAN'S

Accommodation too, is of the finest at this miniature resort. There are modern auto camps that cater to all vacation needs and make the visitor feel he is a welcome guest. Foremost among these is McMorran's Bungalow Camp. Situated right on the beach at a point that takes in the most distant view, this camp is modern in every respect. The houses are of stucco, clean and comfortable, and well furnished. Teas and lunches are also served at this camp and guests are welcomed at any time—whether it be for an hour, a day, or a week.

Visit Cordova—stay for awhile—live on the beach and swim in blue curling waves—walk along the shore and breathe deeply of the salt laden air—and know what it is to enjoy a holiday out of doors.

COACH LINES EXCURSIONS

Bus excursions to popular resorts on the island are being offered this week-end by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Limited. A "moonless" excursion by bus and ferry through the Gulf Islands is being run on Saturday night. The bus leaves the Broughton Street depot at 8 o'clock and proceeds to Swartz Bay, where the ferry Cy Peck is boarded. An evening of music, dancing and entertainment is on the programme for this trip.

Friday Harbor — that fascinating port in the American Gulf Islands—is the terminus of another excursion on Saturday. The coaches leave Victoria at 9 a.m. and after a ferry ride to San Juan Island, the passengers return to Victoria at 7 o'clock the same evening.

On Sunday next excursions are being run to Newcastle Island and Qualicum Beach. These two up-island resorts have an irrestible appeal to Victorians and it is expected that a good number of passengers will avail themselves of the opportunity offered by the low fares.

Additional excursions to be featured on Sunday include a mystery trip—a special trip to Jordan River—and excursions to Cooke Harbor, Shawnigan Lake and Goldstream Park.

"She's like to be married, Virginia, I mean. But Bill thinks he can't afford it. It's really too bad because if ever a girl was cut out to be a wife Virginia is."

Irene said she could understand that. In spite of the shortness of their acquaintance she liked Virginia better the more she saw of her. There was a fineness about her entirely lacking in this other girl, although Eve's beauty was undeniable.

"I wish she'd take her feet off that spread," Irene was thinking as Eve drawled. "I suppose you're anxious to go to bed."

"I am tired," Irene admitted. "And I'm leaving for Los Angeles at 8.40 to-morrow morning.

She wound the small green and gold clock which belonged to the toilet set. "That means I'll have to get up before seven."

"It must be plenty exciting at that," Eve said rising. "I mean I wish I could fall around in the sky the way you girls do, meeting interesting men and having affairs with the pilots."

Irene laughed.

"Well, so far I haven't seen a man, either passenger or pilot, I'd want to have an affair with."

"You will," Eve assured her.

The funny part of it was she did meet an interesting man on her plane the very next day. Absorbed in her duties Irene had not given him a thought. It was the passenger across from him who attracted her attention.

The plane was mounting higher and higher to clear the Tehachapi mountains—6,000-7,000-8,000-9,000 feet—while the man sitting in the front seat stared at the altimeter with a strained frightened attention. Irene saw him wet his lips and feel of his pulse with a shaking hand. His face was white. The girl watching him did not need to ask to know that this was his first airplane trip.

"He's scared to death," she decided. "Afraid this swift climbing is going to bring on a heart attack."

His lips were so pale, his mouth so drawn that she knew an instant's fear herself. Suppose he did have a weak heart! In his present distraught condition anything might happen.

Without stopping to question him she went to the front of the plane and tapped the altimeter. Then she opened the door and spoke to the pilot.

"A man is about to die of fright back here. Afraid of the altitude. O.K. if I tell him it's out of order?"

Bruce Boynton grinned.

"Sure. Turn it down if you like."

Returning to the altimeter she turned it back to 6,000 feet. The passenger summoned her.

"What's the matter?" he gasped.

Irene smiled.

"This altimeter seems to be out of order. I knew we couldn't be going as high as that."

Drops of perspiration stood out on his face with a relieved sigh he sank back into his seat. It was then that the man across the aisle from him beckoned to her.

When she was perched on the arm of his seat beyond danger of being overheard, he chuckled, "You little liar! You know we're flying over 9,000 feet."

She did not attempt to deny it.

"Of course, but if he's going to worry about it . . ."

She had time then to see that this man was an unusually attractive looking person with dark blue eyes in a thin brown face. His clothes were faultless. His long hands shapely and well-manicured. Mentally she ran over the passenger list but could not recall his name.

"How long will you be in Los Angeles?" he asked.

"Until four."

His pleasant face brightened.

"Long enough to have lunch with me if you will. Or is that against the rules?"

"We are allowed to make our own rules after working hours!"

"Then, will you?"

His smile was not flirtatious. Merely friendly and interested.

"I'm sorry," she said and meant it. "But I haven't any other clothes with me."

"Will you in San Francisco then? After I return?"

"I'd love to," she answered.

But although she gave him her telephone number and looked on the passenger list to learn that his name was Clarence Turner, she didn't expect to hear from him again. She had learned in the hospital that men's ideas about such things were subject to change.

She was really surprised when after her return from San Diego two days later he called her.

"How about having lunch with me to-morrow?"

"How did you know to-morrow would be my day off?" she laughed.

"Oh, I'm clever that way. Will you, Miss Gardner?"

His invitation delighted her and luncheon in San Francisco would be a treat after her week's work. She promised to meet him at the St. Francis but they lunched at Camille's.

Irene liked the quiet voiced way in which he managed to obtain the best service. She told herself it would be fun to go places with a man who had plenty of money as well as the knowledge of how to spend it. There weren't so many of them nowadays.

Their conversation which had begun impersonally remained so. Her companion seemed to enjoy talking about nothing to this pretty girl in her trim black suit and turned back hat. And when luncheon was over he bought her gardenias which matched the cream colored frills of her blouse and put her in a taxi headed for the ferry.

"You're sure there's nothing else you want to do?"

"Not to-day."

"I feel flattered," he said, with his pleasant smile, "that you should have crossed the bay just to have lunch with me."

"It was worth it," she answered.

His blue eyes danced as he leaned closer.

"Then may I call you again soon?"

"I wish you would," she replied truthfully.

She even liked the way he lifted his hat and walked toward Market Street. He had told her he was a stock broker and it pleased her that he was not a professional man.

She told herself she was done forever with doctors and such. They were too absorbed in their work to make love to any woman even their wives. Yet in spite of this when she reached the ferry she found herself dismissing her taxi and taking a street car for the hospital.

CHAPTER V

Irene told herself it was Pete Evans she wanted to see. Pete had telephoned that she had a case at the hospital. If Irene hurried she could catch her there before Pete went off duty. The fact that she hoped also to run into Bartlett Ralston was not admitted to her conscious mind.

She told herself she couldn't remain away from the hospital too long or the girls would think it queer. Besides, wouldn't Bart himself think she was hurt worse if she never appeared than if she did?

The sight of her looking remarkably well in the black suit, wearing gardenias which obviously had not been bought on the street, should convince him that she was not exactly having a nervous breakdown over him, she argued, walking up the hospital steps.

BULRUSHES AT BALLET

London, Aug. 22. — Among the fashionable throng in the stalls at Covent Garden for the jubilee performance of the Russian Ballet was an elderly woman carrying a bunch of bulrushes. The Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York were in the audience.

MANOEUVRES ON NBC TO-MORROW

First of Series of Broadcasts From Largest Army Exercises Ever Held in U.S.

The first of a series of programmes that for the first time in history will bring listeners the important phases of gigantic U.S. Army and National Guard manoeuvres at Pine Camp, New York, will be presented over an NBC coast-to-coast network to-morrow, at 7.30 a.m., P.S.T. During the initial programme listeners will hear Major-General Dennis E. Nolan, commander of the Second Corps Area, who will direct the engagement, explain the plans and purposes of the manoeuvres to his officers. A delegation of twenty NBC engineers, announcers and observers, headed by William Lundell, director of special events, will cover the activities of the largest single mobilization of troops within the borders of the United States since the Civil War. KPO and KOMO are among the stations in the west broadcasting this programme.

RADIO BATTLES FOR NO RIGHTS

U.S. Commissioner Sees Broadcasting as Commercial Fifth Estate

Associated Press

Ithaca, N.Y., Aug. 22.—George H. Payne, United States communications commissioner, warned yesterday against permitting the broadcasting business to become a "political power" or "a fifth estate in our government."

Addressing the Association of Agricultural College Editors at Cornell University, Payne said: "The radio in this country is practically entirely in the hands of those interested solely in its commercial aspects."

The newspaper, too, he said, as the "fourth estate" has its commercial aspects, but since the first paper was printed on this continent in 1690, newspapers have fought for human rights, against political corruption, and for liberty. "The radio," he said, "battles for no rights."

NO DISPUTES WITH LEADERS

Policy of Stevens in Conducting His Election Campaign

Canadian Press

Port Arthur, Ont., Aug. 22.—Speaking at a mass meeting here last night, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Reconstruction Party leader, stated he did not propose to enter into any disputes with the leaders of the other parties, "but I do differ from them in many particulars and I think it is people of Canada give their thought and attention to Canada's problems, it will be a happy day for the country."

"Canada's economic trouble in large measure to-day is caused by deflation of values, or a destruction of purchasing power." This was due to insufficient currency and restriction of credit. Mr. Stevens quoted figures indicating there had been very great lessening of the amount of money in circulation during the last fifteen years.

"Workers are the best consumers. Consumers must have value for their labor, otherwise you destroy purchasing power," the Reconstruction Party leader asserted. He reiterated that control of credit by a few large financial corporations was hurting Canada. "We must have in Canada a conscious policy controlling and directing credit." Otherwise the country would drift into a condition of economic subservience with control exercised by a few men.

NOVA SCOTIA APPLE SCHEME

Plan Officially Approved By Dominion Marketing Board

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 22.—The Nova Scotia Apple Marketing Scheme has been officially approved by the Dominion government upon the recommendation of the Dominion Marketing Board. The scheme embraces the counties of Hants, Kings, Annapolis, Lunenburg and Queens.

As a result of the regulation of apples under the export scheme and also of Ontario orchards having been affected by spring frosts, there is an increase in the movement of Nova Scotia apples into domestic markets.

It is proposed to set up a marketing agency and it is anticipated that sales on consignment will be prevented. It is hoped that by regulation producers will obtain increased returns for their product.

SOVIET TAKES JAPAN FLOUR

Norway's Action on Japanese Goods Not Linked With Canadian Surtax

Tokio, Aug. 22.—The Soviet government has contracted to take 400,000 sacks of Japanese flour in part payment for the former Chinese Eastern Railway and further similar orders are anticipated, according to the newspaper Yomiuri.

The transaction is believed largely responsible for a considerable rise in the prices of Japanese wheat and flour.

The agreement by which Manchukuo bought the railway provides that, after the first payment in cash, further payments might be in products of Manchukuo or Japanese origin.

NO EXTRA COST

THINK what it means to be able to add to the family diet the precious "sunshine" vitamin D through the milk you use. It's the vitamin that babies must have to make little bones grow straight and strong, and to help little teeth come in sound and fine. The famous Dionne quintuplets are being raised on Irradiated Carnation Milk. They have been fed Carnation Milk since November, 1934.

It's needed by every growing child, and by every prospective or nursing mother. In fact, every member of the family is better off for the daily fortifying with vitamin D that's so easy and inexpensive when Improved Irradiated Carnation Milk is used. No increase in price.

Many specialists recommend Carnation as an ideal milk for bottle-fed infants, because they know it is safe, nourishing, easier to digest than cow's milk in any other form. Why not ask your doctor?

The Improved Carnation Milk is also splendid for cooking, drinking, and for creaming coffee and cereals. Ask your grocer for Improved Carnation Milk. Look for the word "Irradiated" on the label.

Make the GREATER WIDTH Test

The Roadflight Tread is definitely wider than any tire at the same price, and equally as wide as more expensive tires of comparative size. Measurements prove it! It offers more non-skid road grip, more traction, more braking surface—a safer, longer wearing tire.

Make the DEEPER TREAD Test

Stand a card in the tread pattern as shown. Mark the depth! Likewise test other tires of same size and price. All other treads are too shallow to come up to the mark—proof positive that the Roadflight Tread is deeper, safer—good for more miles.

Lovely Gardens Scene of I.O.D.E. Alfresco Party

Nearly 300 Guests at York Place Fete Arranged By Margaret Rocke Robertson Chapter Yesterday

Ideal weather and an attendance of nearly 300 guests, including many out-of-town visitors, rewarded the sponsors of the garden party held in the lovely gardens at the home of Mrs. C. F. Armstrong and Mrs. M. F. Driscoll, York Place, yesterday afternoon. The affair was arranged by the Margaret Rocke Robertson Chapter, I.O.D.E. in aid of its philanthropic and patriotic work.

Reeve R. W. Mayhew, who was introduced by Mrs. L. A. Genge, regent of the chapter, declared the fete open, seizing the opportunity to congratulate the I.O.D.E. on its splendid work in many good causes, and wished the undertaking every success.

MANY ATTRACTIONS

The gardens lend themselves perfectly to an alfresco party, the velvety lawns, fine old trees and riot of color in the flowerbeds making an ideal setting for the gaily decorated stalls and other features.

A stall of fancy articles was in charge of Mrs. Alfred Woodcraft, Mrs. G. B. Hope, Mrs. H. B. Forster and Mrs. Eric Mackenzie-Grieve. Ice cream was sold by Misses Helen Woodcroft, Caro Wyllie and Noreen Smyly. The bagatelle was in charge of Miss Marnie Wright; the candy, Mrs. William Luney, assisted by the Misses Grace and Edith Sweder, of Vancouver; the bridge keno, a game, was managed by Miss Priscilla Wright; horse racing, Messrs. Sutherland Brown; "hot dogs," Mrs. Roger Monteith, Mrs. Gordon Mason and Mrs. H. D. Twigg.

SWIMMING DISPLAY

In the out-door swimming pool was staged a most interesting swimming and diving display by the Pacific Swimming Club, under the direction of Mr. Ernie Peden, Mr. Frank Hyslop, the club coach, acting as announcer.

The first group included displays of breastatroke, backstroke, freestyle, resting backstroke and dual crawl, in which the following took part: Eleanor and Ernie Peden, Molly Wallis, Lilian Stokes, Mary Doidge, Beth Stewart. Various methods of life-saving were demonstrated, and in the fancy group, "dolphins at play," double somersaults, pendulum, log rolling and shadow swimming were shown by Molly Wallis, Lilian Stokes, Ernie Peden, Mary Doidge, Eleanor Peden and Tom Coventry.

Some spectacular diving was shown, including back, somersault, jackknife and front and back somersaults, and this feature of the programme was specially interesting.

PUNCH AND JUDY

Much amusement was caused by the antics of Punch and Judy, the show being given twice by Mr. P. Gow, who also entertained children and grown-ups with his sleight-of-hand.

For tea the visitors repaired to the adjoining home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Goward, where, under the direction of Mrs. Genge and Mrs. John Phethean, a number of Girl Guides of the East Victoria district assisted in serving the many guests. Mrs. Gordon Smith had charge of the tea gate receipts and Miss Cooke was in charge of the entrance tickets.

Five tables of mah jong were also in play at Mrs. Goward's.

WORKING WOMEN ON MATERNITY

Associated Press

Copenhagen, Aug. 22.—The "open door" international congress passed a resolution yesterday demanding the same treatment for women workers who are unable to carry on their usual work because of maternity as accorded workmen disabled through accidents or disease.

The 1,500-word resolution was regarded as one of the most important of the conference.

Weddings

BOWBRICK—GRAHAM

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Of interest on Vancouver Island and in this city was the pretty wedding solemnized on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the bride's parents when Dorothy Margaret, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Alex Graham, became the bride of Mr. John T. Bowbrick, son of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Bowbrick, of Nanaimo.

Rev. A. J. Bowbrick performed the ceremony and Miss Ilene McClintock played the nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride made a charming picture in her Gainsboro gown of pimento crepe with brown hat and shoes. Her flowers were deep cream roses and fern. Miss Marjorie Graham, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, was becomingly gowned in nigger brown. She carried pink gladioli and sweet peas. Mr. Melvin Graham, brother of the bride, supported the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony when Mrs. Graham, mother of the bride, assisted in receiving. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with tall white tapers in silver holders. The tea table was centred with delicately-shaded sweet peas in a cutglass bowl set on a mirrored plaque. Mrs. A. E. Whiteside presided at the urns, and Mrs. C. R. McTaggart cut the ices.

For traveling the bride wore a modish brown and white swagger suit with hat and accessories in brown. The couple left by motor for the south and will visit en route Dr. A. G. Bowbrick of Boise, Idaho, brother of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowbrick will make their home at Sandwick, V.I.

CROWDS HINDER DIONNE'S SLEEP

Canadian Press

Callander, Ont., Aug. 22—The five little Dionne girls are not yet sufficiently grown up to do without sleep and as a result Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, their physician, has decreed public appearances must be reduced from four daily to a couple of showings.

"It is just a precautionary measure," said Dr. Dafoe, who explained that so many people had been visiting the hospital daily for each of the four appearances that the sleep of the babies was being interrupted.

Mrs. D. Pearson of 2736 Fifth Street will leave to-morrow for Jasper, Alberta, where she will spend three weeks with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. Keck.

* * *

Miss Helen Montgomery of Vancouver, who has been spending the last week in Victoria as the guest of Mrs. G. C. Clark, Trutch Street, returned this afternoon to her home on the mainland.

* * *

Miss Nancy Sadler of Vancouver is spending a week's visit with Hon. and Mrs. J. H. King, 1319 Rockland Avenue, who have just returned from a week's vacation at Qualicum as the guests of Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald and Mrs. Macdonald. Dr. King left Tuesday night to attend the Pacific Northwest Kiwanis Convention in Vancouver.

* * *

Mrs. A. W. Bradley, 1776 Rockland Avenue, entertained at a cocktail party yesterday in honor of her sisters, Mrs. Rita Milligan, Miss Alma Jalland and Miss Wynne Jalland, who are visiting her from Los Angeles. The guests were Mrs. H. C. Milliender (Texas), Mrs. C. R. Cunningham, Mrs. J. M. Cunningham, Mrs. D. W. Carter, Miss Elaine Ross and Miss Wynne Verney.

* * *

Mrs. A. R. Harness, assisted by her daughters, the Misses Marguerite and Audrey Harness, was hostess to the members of the Garden Club of the Victoria Women's Institute yesterday afternoon. Tea was served in the garden, which was a glorious blaze of color and which had the distinction of being the first prizewinner in its class in the recent garden competition. Those present included Mrs. E. S. Blair, Mrs. J. L. White, Mrs. D. Ramsay, Mrs. M. Hart, Mrs. E. Gough, Mrs. K. Saddler, Mrs. S. McPhee, Mrs. G. Upward, Mrs. G. Brown and Miss D. Harrison.

* * *

Miss Mary Parkinson, popular bride-elect, was the guest of honor when the Misses Hilda and Dola Greaves entertained at their home on Juno Street yesterday evening with a kitchen shower. Little Miss Frances Brunner handed the gifts to the guest of honor. Games were enjoyed during the evening and later supper was served, the tables being prettily arranged with a centrepiece of bright marigolds, illuminated by tall yellow tapers, and presided over by Mrs. W. Lawson, Mrs. F. Brunner, Mrs. J. L. Parkinson, Mrs. I. O. Handy (Seattle), Mrs. G. F. Burnett, Mrs. A. Stanier, Mrs. W. B. Sylvester, Miss E. Phillips, Miss K. Sproule, Miss V. Lawson, Miss A. Saunders, Miss Helen Cruickshanks, Miss Isabel Stoddard, Miss Laura Monaghan, Miss Vivian Pennock, Miss Ruth Carey, Miss Patsy Morrow, Miss Helen Parkinson, Miss Babe Pennock and Miss Alice Parkinson.

* * *

Among the passengers for Japan sailing to-day by the Empress of Asia, were four Sisters of St. Ann, two from British Columbia, Sister Mary Melina, whose home was in Kelowna, and Sister Mary Justinian, who has taught music at St. Ann's Academy in New Westminster during the past year. Coming from the Mother House of St. Ann at Lachine, Que., were Sister Mary of the Immaculate Conception, and Sister Mary Ovida. They will join the Community of their order established ten months ago by Mother Mary Leopoldine and the three missionary Sisters who accompanied her to Kagoshima, and with them will staff the new convent, dispensary and kindergarten at Ohari between Kobi and Kagoshima, to be completed and ready for occupation in September.

Before the departure of the Sisters, Bishop H. J. MacDonald presided in the Chapel of St. Ann's Academy during an Hour of Adoration, when the touching prayers for those embarking upon a missionary journey, were recited.

* * *

Miss Doreen Cooper, whose marriage to Mr. Jack Jones is scheduled for this month, was complimented at a shower given by Miss Phyllis May at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. M. May, Ash Street, yesterday evening. During the evening the bride-to-be was presented with a handsome lamp, the gift being wheeled into the room on a tea-wagon by little Myfanwy Gunning. The reception rooms were attractively decorated with gladioli in pink shades, while the supper table, with its Italian cut-work cloth, was centred with an artistic arrangement of pink sweet peas, flanked with all pink tapers. Games were enjoyed, the prizewinners being Miss Evelyn Slater and Miss Margaret Matthews. The guests included: Mrs. C. Cooper, Mrs. W. H. M. May, Mrs. Arthur Cann, Mrs. C. Lewis, Mrs. M. E. McCabe, Mrs. A. M. Thompson, Mrs. A. C. Gunning, and the Misses Doreen Cooper, Doris Ockwell, Margaret Matthews, Evelyn Slater, Ruth McIntosh, L. Parfitt, Doris Winkel, Olive McLean, Pat. ## UNION WOMEN AGAINST TITLES

London, Aug. 21.—A resolution to be discussed by the Trades Union Congress opening September 2 expresses regret that leaders of the movement are accepting titles through a government not established "in the interests of the workers."

The resolution, sponsored by the Women's Clerks' Union, is directed at men like Sir Walter Citrine, secretary of the Congress, and Sir Arthur Pugh, of the Iron and Steel Trades Federation, knighted in the birthday honors.

QUIVERING NERVES
are Calm and Steady Now

ANY woman's nerves may be upset once in a while. But don't let it be a habit. Are you cross and unreasonable? Do you cry easily and become hysterical? Such things are often symptoms of feminine upsets. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It quiets quivering nerves—makes you eat and sleep better. Life will not be such a burden.

Mrs. James Dawson

says Mrs. James Dawson of 90 Glendale Avenue North, Hamilton, Ontario. "Your Vegetable Compound helped me at the Change of Life. It steadied my nerves. I have excellent color now and a good appetite. Most of the time I feel well and strong. Once in a while I get nervous or rundown. Then I take Lydia Pinkham's again to help. I certainly recommend it.

Just Ask Your Friends

Probably some of them know from personal experience what this medicine will do. Better still, get a bottle NOW and try it yourself.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

HERE'S A CHILD WHO IS BEING FED FORTY-FOUR OUNCES OF MILK DAILY

It is a wise dictum which insists that a baby should have only thirty-two ounces of cow's milk a day, no matter what its age or weight. This amount offers the child an adequate amount of protein and calcium, while more than this may destroy the appetite for those solid foods which, along with the cow's milk, keep the baby growing and healthy.

The well balanced infant diet consists of milk, plus fruit juices, cod liver oil, vegetables, cereals and egg yolk.

One seldom hears of mothers feeding such quantities of milk as the following reader, chiefly because knowledge of formulas is becoming increasingly widespread.

FIFTY-SIX OUNCES

Mrs. T. C. P. writes: "My ten months old baby weighs nineteen and one-half pounds and weighed only five pounds at birth. He gets forty-four ounces of cow's milk, boiled one minute, and twelve ounces of water and one teaspoonful of cod liver oil.

"In addition he gets two ounces of orange juice, four tablespoons of spinach and graham crackers daily. Is his diet all right for his age and weight, and is one bowel movement a day enough?"

This is an astounding total of milk for one baby to manage. My guess is that he must be fed at least seven times a day, instead of the usual four to get away with such an amount.

ADD SYRUP

The ordinary formula at this age is thirty-two ounces of cow's milk, to which one tablespoon of syrup can be added. This goes into four bottles and is fed every four hours, the usual hours being 6-10-2-6. If there is a night feeding, six ounces of water may be added before the formula is bottled.

It is right to boil the milk, and slightly more is necessary before boiling to allow for evaporation. But your baby does not profit by such large feedings of milk, nor is such a quantity of water needed.

GRUEL, VEGETABLES

Instead of crackers fed at odd hours, give two regular feedings of well cooked gruel (fine wheat or oatmeal strained) before the 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. formula. If you will send me a self addressed stamped envelope I shall be happy to send you leaflets, "Feeding from Nine Months to Twelve Months," and "Feeding from Twelve to Fifteen Months," so that you will see how to add egg yolk to the diet and to introduce the various vegetables which the baby can enjoy.

The number of bowel movements is immaterial, provided the stools are not hard and constipated.

To-morrow: Fifteen Months Old Child Should Not Be Treated As Utter Infant."

Schooling In Housework Brings Jobs For Girls

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

New York.—In a period when many young things wonder whether there is a job in all the world, two or three prospective employers wait eagerly to grab off every newest graduate of the home-making course of the Girls' Service League here. So far, more than two hundred girls have taken the eight weeks of training established as an emergency measure and every one who wanted a job afterwards (several got married) has been placed satisfactorily.

Satisfactorily, as Miss Stella Miner of the Service League, points out, both to employee and employer.

AN EXPERIMENT

"At first it was an experiment, of course," Miss Miner explains, "started because the morale of many girls who came to us as 100,000 girls in difficulties have done in the past twenty-seven years, was at such low ebb that we determined to try anything that might keep them occupied and their minds off their troubles. To begin with, we had just a training shop with work in sewing, pasting and novelty-making. Girls were paid a tide-over wage while learning.

"Then with diminishing jobs in all fields except housework, we started classes in scientific housekeeping. Out of that grew the idea for resident course in homemaking, given first at league headquarters in the city, down at the Greta-Theo vacation home on Long Island Sound."

GROUNDED IN CULTURE OF HOME

The girls who have enrolled for the course are no less interesting than the course itself. Most of them are of American birth. Many have had high school training and some have gone to college.

They study home-making as a fine art. They visit museums to learn to appreciate beautiful furniture, textiles and pictures so that they may handle them more lovingly and understandingly. They hear lectures on etiquette and ethics—on budgets, friendships and use of leisure time.

In addition to learning the best way to sweep, dust, set tables and cook, they are taught to make the most of themselves by giving themselves manicures, wearing becoming colors and doing their hair in an attractive way. They are even given lessons in posture and in the proper psychological attitude. And food is not just food to them, but an intricate business of calories, vitamins and carbohydrates.

MINIMUM WAGE

Employers are not allowed to appropriate treasures such as these girls without preparation of their own.

First of all, an inspector from the league visits every home to be sure that conditions there will justify a girl being employed. Then a minimum wage must be fixed and the girl's rights in the home safeguarded. She must have a room of her own, regular time off, including at least one afternoon and evening a week, and all day Sunday every other week. She must be allowed to go to church and her working hours are carefully arranged for.

Employers in Long Island have become so much interested in the entire plan that they have organized a group to discuss codes for houseworkers.

ALUMNAE ORGANIZE

"The girls have formed an alumnae association, too," said Miss Miner, "and on their free days they come back to the school and are entertained and served tea and buffet supper by the girls there. Over the tea cups they discuss their problems and exchange ideas.

Greta-Theo House is run as a home, with girls taking turn doing the various tasks and acting as hostesses. They have a self-governing system and discipline themselves remarkably well. The teachers are supplied to us by the New York State Education Department."

The Girls' Service League was started twenty-seven years ago by Miss Miner and her sister, Mrs. Alexander M. Hadden, then Miss Maude Miner.

As a young college girl, Mrs. Hadden became interested in the problems of women who ran afoul of the law. After her graduation she began to study the whole subject at first hand in New York courts, and she and her sister were instrumental in opening Waverley House, a home where first offenders could be sent in order that they might not have to mingle with hardened criminals and learn their ways. Out of that grew the Girls' Protective League, designed to help young women before they became first offenders. The Service League followed.

HARLEM SHOWS THRIFTY DIET

New York, Aug. 22—"Beet tops and carrot tops are just as tasty as the vegetables themselves." Balancing budget and meals, negro housewives succeeded in winning prizes from officials of the department of health, who staged a contest.

The contest was started as a neighborhood health project under Dr. Arthur I. Blau, health officer of the Harlem district.

For maintaining the neatest ratio between income and vitamins in the preparation of meals for their families, prizes of $15 each were awarded to Mrs. Mary Gilmer and to Miss Elonoris Jonnathan.

Mrs. Gilmer turned in a very appetizing food schedule which stayed well within the budgetary limits of her husband's salary of $30 a week, while Miss Jonnathan's marketing list indicated that she fed a family of four adults and three children on a food allotment of $16 a week from a variable weekly income averaging $35.

Most illuminating, however, was the report of Mrs. Frances Handy who won a second prize of $10 for her achievement in providing nutritious fare to her unemployed husband and three children, ranging from two to ten years of age, on a weekly quota of $8.20. The family is on "home relief," from which it receives rent and a food grant of $16.40 every two weeks.

Meat, of course, is more expensive, so during the week the Handy family had only 25c worth of liver and one and one-half pounds of lamb at 30c. The children obtained plenty of protein, however, by drinking milk by the glass and in cream sauces which Mrs. Handy prepared for potatoes, tomatoes and the like.

Mrs. Handy was asked if the advice supplied by nutrition experts at the home relief bureau district office had brought any changes in her normal menu. She replied that by rearranging her marketing schedules she was able to obtain more milk for her children. Her savings were effected through the purchase of brown eggs instead of white, of fish instead of poultry, and by purchasing beet tops and carrot tops which were cheaper and just as tasty as beets and carrots themselves.

PERSONAL

REACTION

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 22.—When hubby cut a two-inch gash in his wife's scalp she took it stoically. Likewise when he kicked her face as she lay on the floor, and when he pulled a few strands of her hair by the roots. She didn't care to prosecute, she told police who called.

When Dr. Jack Wolfe applied iodine at emergency hospital, however, she yelled "Ouch" and changed her mind.

"Maybe you'd better have those policemen come back," she said. "I didn't know I was hurt so bad."

MRS. GEO. BLACK IS CANDIDATE

Will Run as Independent Conservative in Yukon

Dawson, Y.T., Aug. 22.—Mrs. George Black, wife of the former Speaker of the House of Commons, will run in the Yukon in the coming federal election as an Independent Conservative.

Mrs. Black was chosen some time ago by a Conservative meeting, but on her present visit here she has stated she will carry the designation of Independent Conservative. Hon. George Black, the former Speaker, represented the Yukon in the last Parliament.

J. P. Smith has announced himself as an Independent Liberal candidate. Charles Reid, Vancouver, was chosen as official Liberal candidate by a recent meeting. It is considered doubtful, however, that both men will run.

It was indicated that Mrs. Black will be the sole representative of Conservative interests.

STAR GUARDS AGAINST MARRING HER BEAUTY

By ALICIA HART

Nightly brushing and a weekly hot oil shampoo, followed by a light rinse, are the two routines that Helen Vinson, lovely young screen star, sticks to in order to keep her curly, blonde hair shiny and attractive. She brushes for at least five minutes each night and she makes her appointments for hot oil shampoos regularly.

"I always use a foundation," the young star continued, when questioned about her other beauty secrets. "I would not dream of exposing myself to brilliant sunlight without adequate protection. Over it I use a light cream rouge and medium, rather creamy powder.

"While I hate to sleep with a lot of cream on my face, one night a week I force myself to do just this. After a thorough cleansing, I smooth on nourishing cream and leave it on while I sleep."

Helen Vinson thinks—and rightly—that care of the eyes and of the skin around them is something every woman should consider seriously. She uses cream around her pretty brown ones at night, washes them several times a day with a bland eye lotion and wears smoked glasses when she sits on the beach or spends long hours in bright sunshine. Her mascara and eyeshadow, both for daytime and evening, are brown. She thinks it a mistake for a blonde ever to use black mascara on lashes and eyebrows.

Speaking of eyebrows, the actress has beautifully shaped ones that follow the contour of the bones right under them. Incidentally, this is a grooming hint for all women to remember. Don't be afraid to have an arch in your brows. They should be tweezed into lines that match exactly the natural curve of the bones which, as you will find out if you run your forefinger across, do have a definite arch.

NIGHT BALL GAINS FAVOR

Several American League Clubs Will Introduce Sport Next Season

New York, Aug. 22—Major league club owners still are sharply divided over night baseball, tried successfuly this year by Cincinnati Reds, but latest indications point definitely to its extension in 1936, with the American League following the trail blazed by the National.

Previously confined to the minors and scorned for years by the major league magnates, night baseball now is being eagerly discussed and advocated by the owners.

Fought Housing, Loses His Home

Man Caught in Path of Progress in London Forced to Vacate

London, Aug. 22.—A $500,000 housing scheme in the St. Pancras borough was held up for months recently because a tenant in Harmwood Place, a key position in the big demolition drive, wouldn't budge.

Authorities offered the tenant, Henry Walton, alternative accommodation but his doctor in a letter said "such a change would tend to aggravate him into a state of melancholia." Walton is a widower living alone.

Council took the matter to court and obtained an order for possession of the house.

"In 1932 my wife died—the greatest shock of my life. I had a stroke which made me blind and deaf, paralyzing my right side. I recovered my sight and hearing, more or less, but the doctors say I must have rest and quiet, with hobbies to keep my mind off my condition.

"My garden, my work bench and my aviary will all be lost now that I have to move into a smaller place. I have had to sell my furniture, which is too big for the house they have offered me, and I can ill afford to buy new. Now I am forced out of one home with the prospect of being forced out of another in October, when the second house is pulled down, and being made to take a flat."

Now the bright red brick block of flats is going up rapidly around Mr. Walton's house, and the garden which was his pride is being pulled up.

FARMERS OPPOSE BAN FOR HORSES

Canadian Press

Preston, Eng., Aug. 22.—The proposed banning of horses from the streets of London and other large centres is strongly opposed by the Lancashire executive of the National Farmers' Union here. It is contended that if anything of the sort is done it will mean the doom of the breeding of heavy horses in this country.

Officers of the Farmers' Union say that taking horses off the streets would result in greatly reducing the outlet for the produce of the farms.

The Battle of Fallen Timbers

"Mad Anthony" Wayne he was called, but his reckless daring and brilliant courage have gained an important place for this great revolutionary general in the annals of American history.

In 1929, the United States issued a two-cent stamp in commemoration of General Wayne's successful exploit on August 20, 1794, against the Indians on a field of fallen timber, on the Maumee River about fifteen miles from Toledo, O.

Some 2,000 Indians, with about seventy white rangers, French, English, and renegade Americans, were defeated by his 3,000 men, many of whom were Kentucky volunteers. It was the greatest defeat suffered by the molesting Indians of the northwest territory and led to the Treaty of Fort Greenville, which turned over a large tract of land in that area to the United States.

JACK DOYLE FIGHTS BAER

Irish Heavyweight Will Battle Younger of Famous Brothers To-night

New York, Aug. 22.—Jack Doyle, the crooning Irishman, and Buddy Baer, younger brother of the former champion who also can sing, will show their fistic wares in Madison Square Garden Bowl to-night when they clash in the feature bout of a series of six rounders.

The Irishman, who arrived in this country to the tune of much Ballyhoo, points to a knockout of Jack Pettifer in England as his greatest single achievement. He has fought only a few times here, winning usually by a knockout in the early rounds. At present he is under suspension in New Jersey for failure to keep an engagement.

Baer, who tips the scales at 260 pounds and makes his brother, Max, look small by comparison, has been fighting about a year. Most of his bouts, against little known fighters, have ended via knockout in the first round. He has been beaten only once and that in a four-round decision bout with Babe Hunt, Ponca City.

FIRE HALTS RESCUE WORK

Associated Press

Berlin, Aug. 22.—Fire started by an electric cable to-day interrupted the rescue work in the subway cave-in where thirty-four persons are believed still entombed. The minister of propaganda reported twenty missing in the collapse but the newspapers listed the missing at thirty-four. No bodies have been found.

New York, Aug. 22.—Frank Semsker, buttonmaker, saw a man with a gun with a cloth over his face in the store of a fellow-buttonmaker. He sounded a police alarm.

JUSTICE ON A SPREE

Durham, N.C., Aug. 22.—In the same day in the same court these three things happened:

D. C. Meredith appealed a decision which freed him of an assault charge.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

WHEN Wesley Cheek Ferrell was winning twenty or more games a season for the Cleveland Indians over a period of four consecutive major baseball campaigns, one of the finest arms in baseball swung from his right shoulder.

This season, in which Ferrell is racing Dizzy Dean of the St. Louis Cardinals for the honor of capturing the most decisions in both major leagues, the handsome North Carolinian is using his head—and bat—as much as his arm. The result is that he will turn in considerably more than twenty victories.

* * *

After being purchased by the Boston Red Sox for $25,000 in 1934 and reporting well after the season had started, members of rival teams said that Ferrell had lost his old fire-ball altogether, and asserted that they could catch the Guilford moundsman with their bare hands. Yet Ferrell, despite his late start, won fourteen while losing only five games for the Red Sox.

Members of opposing forces had the same thing to say about Ferrell this spring. Even after Wes launched the season by blanking the favored New York Yankees with two hits, they asserted that he specialized in the "nothing" ball.

* * *

It is a somewhat different story now, however. The old fire-ball has returned, although Ferrell uses it sparingly.

If the practice of naming the most valuable player were still in effect in the American League, Ferrell would be a strong candidate for the trophy.

Frequently used as a pinch-hitter, Ferrell sports a batting average of .368. Wes has a habit of hitting the ball out of the lot in late innings, and recently won games on successive days with circuit clouts in the final rounds.

* * *

Ferrell's comeback is all the more remarkable because it was himself who announced in 1933 that he was through as a pitcher. Wes was convinced that his arm was gone, and asked permission to finish the season in the outfield, which he did.

Ferrell had an idea that he could develop into a right-handed hitting Babe Ruth, but found hitting something altogether different when he took a regular turn at bat daily.

The home-run hitting idea knocked out of his head, Ferrell returned to his Guilford home in the fall of 1933, determined to perfect his control to such an extent that he could win without the fire-ball.

* * *

This Ferrell did the following spring, so the story goes, by painting a circle on the side of a barn and throwing at it until he could hit it in any spot he chose at any time.

Cleveland paid Ferrell $18,000 when he copped twenty-three contests in 1932. In 1933 he signed for $12,000. The cut irked the temperamental star. He repeatedly argued with Roger Peckinbaugh, then manager of the Indians, was fined, and generally gave a good imitation of a spoiled child.

In 1934, Ferrell was the game's most persistent holdout. Wes repeatedly refused Alva Bradley's offer of $5,000, with a scale of bonuses for all victories in excess of ten, which would have brought him $10,000 for winning twenty engagements.

The upshot was his sale to the rich Red Sox.

* * *

There is no question but that his brother, Rick, a polished receiver, has been a steadying influence to Ferrell since he joined the Red Sox. They form the greatest brother battery in the history of the sport.

Always an intelligent pitcher, Ferrell, who despite all his experience, is only twenty-seven, made the most of his knowledge of enemy batsmen when he realized that his arm had lost much of its power.

Just when Ferrell found himself again able to pour the old convincer down the alley, much of its former zip returned to the left arm of Robert Moses Grove, another fire-ball flinger who had lost his stuff.

Ferrell and Grove are the principal reasons why the Red Sox are within striking distance of second place and still have an outside chance to overtake the flying Detroit Tigers.

ROSENBLOOM IN EASY VICTORY

Daisy Waugh Is Hero In Victory With Four Goals

Leads B.C. Champions to 7 to 3 Win to Even up Canadian Championship

STEWART-BELL GOAL SCORERS

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Eastern Canada's soccer supremacy was a trifle removed from dim history to-day. A smooth-working western Canada eleven from British Columbia held hopes of returning to the west, Canada's blue riband of football after years of sojourn in the east.

Matching craft with equal guile, and backing up "Daisy" Waugh's sparkling performance with a superlative hard hitting defence, Nanaimo's smooth-working champions came back after a 3 to 2 loss Monday to even the Dominion Football Association soccer final by defeating Montreal Aldred, eastern titlists, 7 to 3 here yesterday evening.

Crammed with action from whistle to whistle, the crowd of 2,000 fans had their thrills supplied by Waugh, fleet Nanaimo centre-forward, who scored four of his team's goals, and pivoted a line that attacked with deadly precision.

ALDRED WEAKENED

Aldred never really settled down, and except for sporadic rushes that revealed glimpses of the form that carried them through all eastern opposition, failed to do themselves justice. Injuries to Gerdell, Larry Fitzpatrick and Fallon disorganized the Montrealers, and their attack had more method then result. The third game will be played to-morrow night.

Nanaimo clamped down the pressure from the opening whistle, and the crowd was in an uproar as play swirled around Montreal's goalmouth. The first goal came with seventeen minutes gone when Waugh's drive caught the up-right, the pivot-man rushing in to double the rebound home. Aldred settled down for a bit, and Davie McLean equalized by volleying Allan Fitzpatrick's cross past Inkster.

Ronnie Low and George White were having plenty to do in front of Jimmy Nelson, keeping track of the incoming forwards. Several times Nelson ran out to block Waugh and Scotty Stewart, but the pace was too hot. Gordie Bell smashed Sandland's rebound into the rigging five minutes from half-time, and Waugh made it 3 to 1 a moment later.

SECOND HALF

Aldred had an even share of the play when the second half opened until thirteen minutes had gone. Sandland worked in for a shot from left wing, and the twisting leather snicked off a Montreal defender's foot into the net. Montreal switched Berdell and McLean, but it did little good, Waugh dribbling through to whip a left-footer into the rigging.

Montreal asserted themselves at this stage, and Charlie Fitzpatrick scored Montreal's second goal with a rasping drive after taking Berdell's pass. Nanaimo got the goal back one minute later, Scotty Stewart increasing the westerners' margin to 6 to 2 with a fast grounder that Nelson partly saved.

Still fighting although it looked hopeless, Montreal got a third goal as Bejshak tallied with a whistling drive from just inside the eighteen-yard line. Berdell was injured in the play, and McIntosh came on for him. With two minutes left to play, Waugh spread-eagled the Aldred defence to score Nanaimo's seventh goal.

Aldred—Nelson; Low and White; A. Fitzpatrick, Lumsden and Campbell; C. Fitzpatrick, Fallon, Berdell, Bejshak and McLean.

PLAY JUNIOR TENNIS FINALS

Island Champions Crowned To-day at Duncan After Fine Tournament

Duncan, Aug. 22.—Finals in the annual Vancouver Island junior tennis championships were being played here to-day, after one of the most successful tournaments in history. Many fine matches have been witnessed as the youngsters battled their way to the deciding round.

In the boys' events R. Hawes has been outstanding reaching the finals in the boys' singles under eighteen; in the boys' doubles under eighteen, with Giles of Vancouver; the under sixteen doubles, with Pedlar, and the under fifteen doubles, also with Pedlar.

In the girls' events, Kathleen Staples, fifteen-year-old Duncan star, will meet K. Grogan in the under eighteen singles and a close match should result. Miss Staples is present holder of the title. She will meet Suzanne Hadwen in the under sixteen final; will play in the girls' doubles with Ruth Wilson in the under sixteen event; with her brother, Tony, in the under eighteen mixed and the under sixteen mixed events. ## STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

Rarely, if ever, do you actually drink coffee. The beverage that you usually have at breakfast is more properly a tincture of coffee—the coffee itself, that is the grounds, stayed in the pot. In Turkey, however, you drink the grounds and all. The bean is pulverized, like a coco bean in chocolate, and mixed with boiling water.

Modern police systems have hidden microphones in rooms and cells so that officials can overhear what their prisoners talk about. This is more generally used to gain an unwitting admission from a suspect who believes himself to be out of earshot. Dionysius, tyrant of Syracuse, used this same system twenty-four centuries ago.

He had no modern equipment, but he did have a knowledge of the use of acoustics. The cave in the above drawing had the remarkable property of echoing whispered words along its walls so that they could be heard great distances away. Dionysius used it for his prison. He could sit at a certain point along the walls and hear whispered conversations of his prisoners. Unwary captives very often gave themselves away, thinking no one was near.

The ancient cave is still a marvel of acoustics. A single hand clap resounds with thunderous applause—a single spoken word sounds like the babbling of a crowd. Travelers still test the method used by Dionysius—whispered words against the cave wall can be heard 210 feet away.

Louis-Baer Fight At Yankee Stadium

Promoter Mike Jacobs Announces Bout Will Be Staged in New York on September 24; Baer's Hands Examined By New York Commission

New York, Aug. 22—The fifteen-round heavyweight match between Joe Louis, sensational Detroit negro, and Max Baer, former world champion, was set definitely for Tuesday, Sept. 24, at the Yankee Stadium, New York, in an announcement today by Mike Jacobs, promoter.

The decision to hold the bout under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, in co-operation with the milk fund, confirmed expectations.

Jacobs discarded attractive offers to shift the fight to Chicago or Detroit, whose sportsmen made a belated but unsuccessful attempt yesterday to influence the promoter to take the match to the home town of the "Brown Bomber."

Jacobs predicted a "gate" in excess of $500,000. The Yankee Stadium will be equipped to handle a crowd of 85,000 or more.

Max Baer accompanied Jacobs to the commission and submitted to a detailed examination of his hands, which the former champion had blamed for the loss of his title to Jimmy Braddock last June.

HOPKINS WILL OPPOSE LOWE

Fine Main Attraction Billed; Six Other Bouts on Mount Stephen Card

Seven fine bouts, three wrestling and four boxing, will make up the programme for the Mount Stephen Athletic Club's mixed card, to be staged in their outdoor stadium on Mount Stephen Avenue to-morrow night. The opener will be at 8.30 o'clock.

The top position on the card will bring together George Lowe, "Chinese Flash," and Reg. Hopkins, clever young wrestler, and they are scheduled to go five five-minute rounds at 137 pounds. All the turns and twists of the wrestling game are known by these two lads, and the season's top match is expected when they meet.

The semi-windup will bring together Jack Lacey and Bill Stein at 135 pounds, while Young Doc Sarpolis and Young Ernie Arthur will battle in the only other wrestling bout.

Four boxing bouts will complete the card. George Patterson and Jack Patterson, brother lightweights, will meet in the main attraction. Harvey Morrison and Roy Duval, 100-pound battlers, will meet in a three-round mix. Red Knowles and Len Clark will battle at ninety pounds and George Harvey and Tommy Griffiths at ninety pounds.

Athletics Whip Home Gas Squad

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Collecting all their runs in one big inning, the fourth, the Athletics defeated the Home Gas 3 to 1 in a Senior League baseball game here yesterday evening.

Two singles, three errors and two stolen bases gave the A's their trio of markers.

Seattle Net Stars Fall Before Budge and Mako in U.S. Title Doubles

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 22.—The United States Davis Cup delegation to the national doubles tennis tournament at Longwood registered a pair of impressive straight-set victories yesterday to steal a lap on their rivals by entering the semi-finals.

Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, who held the national team title back in 1931 and were runners-up to George Lott and Lester Stoefen, now gracing the professional ranks, at Philadelphia last year, gave a consistent performance, turning back Robert Bryan of Chattanooga, Tenn., and John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Texas, 9-7, 6-3, 6-4.

The other internationalists, Don Budge and Gene Mako, young California stars, had a much easier task, eliminating the Seattle entry, Henry Prusoff and Sam Lee, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. The latter pair, forced to play eighty-three games Tuesday before conquering the Anglo-American team of Malcolm D. Horn and James H. Van Alen, appeared dead on their feet during all of the quarter-finals competition.

Midlothian Stable's Entry for $10,000 Longacres Mile Saturday Blazes Over Five-eighths in 1.01; Biff and Goldstream Look Good in Training

Renton, Aug. 22.—From out of the land of the fleur-de-lis today came the biggest threat to the field of the $10,000 Longacre Mile, to be run at Longacres Saturday afternoon. It was the splendid son of Pondoland and Parodie, the Midlothian Stable's Jazz Band.

The winner of the Independence Day Handicap cracked every watch on the track during the morning hours yesterday when he whizzed around the oval in 1.39 flat, the fastest trial of any of the nominees for the richest mile event of the American turf.

Jazz Band, going in his finest manner and under orders to be restrained every stride, scooted to the first quarter in 24, the half in 48, and was blazing away at the five-eighths when the clockers caught him in 1.01.

MAKES FAST TIME

The French horse was right along at the six furlongs in 1.13 1-5 and it was then apparent that only his stumbling or being pulled up would keep the son of Pondoland from working faster than some horses run the mile. Trainer Angus McPherson began to flag Jockey Frank Wolburn to slow up, with the result that the boy eased Jazz Band nearing the finish to complete the mile in 1.39.

As great as was the surprising mile work of Jazz Band for the $10,000 mile and the fact that the calculations for the event become further complicated by the hour, the pre-race favorites, Acey Smith's Goldstream and Frank Ianni's highweight, Biff, have held the spotlight during the morning hours now that the race is nearing decision.

BIFF WORKS WELL

Both stars, two of the finest thoroughbreds ever to carry silks on the Pacific Coast turf, were busy on Monday and again Wednesday morning, Trainer Ianni ordering Biff a mile in 1.49 1-5 on Monday. The horse was at no time out of hand.

Yesterday Biff came right back off that mile effort in most astounding fashion just a few minutes before Jazz Band electrified the work watchers and became one of the solid threats of the race. Biff, under his regular rider, Jockey Melvin Knight, spun out three-eighths in 36 4-5, never out of a pull.

Then came Goldstream, reeling off three-eighths of a mile in his usual determined manner, finishing in 37 3-5.

SONS IN WIN OVER CLUBMEN

Defeat Tillicums 6 to 5 to Win Baseball Play-off Series

Driving in four tallies in the final inning of the six-inning game, Sons of Canada managed to nose out the Tillicums 6 to 5, to win the second battle of the two-out-of-three-game post-season play-offs series for the Senior Baseball League pennant, yesterday evening at the Athletic Park. The Sons will now meet Eagles, who finished in first place in the league schedule, to-morrow evening at the Athletic Park at 6 o'clock.

After a scoreless two innings Sons of Canada garnered a lone run in the third frame and another in the fourth, and then staged a rally in the sixth that brought them four runs to win. Tillicums scored one in the second, two in the third and a pair in the final frame.

Wally Coutts, making his first show on the mound for the Tillicums hurler five-hit ball, and with more backing from his teammates would have pitched his squad to victory. Alec Dick, young Sons of Canada pitcher, was nicked for seven base hits.

BOXING

TOP ROW WINS RICH CLASSIC

Spring Upset Victory Over Discovery in $25,000 Narragansett Special

Pawtucket, R.I., Aug. 22.—Back on the track where he set a world record for the distance, Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt's Discovery yesterday bowed to A. A. Baroni's Top Row in the $25,000 added Narragansett Special of a mile and three-sixteenths.

Top Row's time, 1.55 4-5, was only four-fifths of a second slower than the record set by Discovery last fall, but then Discovery carried only 119 pounds instead of yesterday's 139-pound burden. Top Row bore an impost of only 110 pounds.

A crowd of 45,000 backed Discovery down to a one to four favorite in the mutuels as the Vanderbilt four-year-old went to his first defeat after taking eight consecutive major turf purses.

Top Row had a length and a half on Discovery at the end of the race. In third place only one length away from Discovery was Mrs. Walter E. O'Hara's Howard, while Mrs. F. A. Carreaud's Time Supply, winner of the stake in its first running last season, finished fourth, two lengths behind Howard.

Discovery was first to show on top after the start. Down in front of the clubhouse they flashed with Top Row just behind the pacesetter, and Fidelis third. Howard ran fourth and Time Supply fifth. They went into the back stretch in that order. But near the half-mile pole Toy Row moved up on Discovery and Howard passed Fidelis.

Top Row had only a nose out front as they raced through the far turn, but Jockey Wayne Wright kept him in tight as they rounded into the home stretch and he increased his lead to come into the head of the stretch a full length to the good.

While the thousands in the stands waited for Discovery to spurt ahead, Top Row actually increased his lead. After the race, Trainer Bud Stotler said it was the weight that beat his horse.

DURANGO IN TRACK WIN

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Durango, six-year-old gelding from the J. L. Scobey Stables, who surprised early in the season by winning a handicap at boxcar figures, upset form students again yesterday when he defeated Mr. Bun and Happy Jester in the Ladysmith Handicap, feature on the Brighouse Park racing card.

Durango set his own pace, withstood repeated challenges and fought off Mr. Bun in the stretch to capture the mile and one-sixteenth event by a head.

The winner paid $16.20, $7.75 and $3.75 in the mutuels.

Big Pine, from the Emerald Stock Farm, Vancouver Island, nosed out Stanstill after a strenuous drive in the opening race. Big Pine paid $12.50 for a $2 mutuel win ticket.

Brunsdon's Boys Start Island Softball Final Series To-night

Meet Hillcrest Nine; Turn Back Poodle Dog Team

Harry Youson's Homer Deciding Feature in 3 to 1 Verdict Over Poodle Dog

Mid-island Team Reported Strong

Carried to the lower island championship on the wings of Harry Youson's flying centre field drive which went for a homer and scored two other runners as well, Brunsdon's Boys were ready to tackle Hillcrest Lumber Company, mid-island titlists, in the island final opener at the Athletic Park this evening.

Their 3 to 1 victory over Poodle Dog Cafe players yesterday at Bullen Park gave the Brunsdon outfit the rubber in the lower island section. Following this evening's game, billed at 6.10 o'clock, they will play Hillcrests at the agricultural grounds, Duncan, in the second of the two out of three series for island laurels on Sunday, and if a third game is necessary, they will clash at the Athletic Park next Tuesday.

Bob Whyte and Battie, two officials selected by the British Columbia Softball Association, will handle the playoffs

HILLCRESTS GOOD

When they clash with the Hillcrest boys in the fixture scheduled at the Athletic Park this evening, Brunsdons will be up aaginst a smart outfit, according to reports from the mid-island section.

During the season the Hillcrest squad has won twenty-six games, lost five and drawn one, which went to twelve innings.

The team has four pitchers, Elmer Evans, Roy Lovell, J. Mamatto and Griff Timothy, all of whom are reported to be in first class shape.

The infield includes Roy Halstead, veteran first sacker; Frank Coller, second baseman; Archie Campbell, short stop, and Chuck Strougler, third. The inner circle has batted over the .300 mark this year, and has completed twenty-nine double plays.

A. Lamont, manager of the team, is highly optimistic over the club's chances against the Esquimalt stars

SMART GAME

Equally hopeful to-day were the Brunsdon Boys. Yesterday evening they disposed of the Poodle Dog Cafe challenge for the lower island honors in one of the smartest games of the series to date.

Tommy Johnston and "Red" Palmer, rival flingers, allowed three hits apiece during the fixture, but one of those against Johnston went for four bases to score two other of Brunsdon's Boys for their three runs in the fifth inning.

The teams went scoreless through the first four innings, each getting a safety in those frames. In the fifth, Brunsdon's turned on the pressure.

"Gabby" Dunnett filed out as the inning started, and Munro struck out. Emery reached first on balls and Jacklin drove him around to second with a single. Ralph failed to field the ball cleanly and each of the runners gained an extra base.

DECIDING HIT

At that point Harry Youson picked a low delivery for a long ride to deep centre field and toured the layout as Emery and Jacklin crossed the plate ahead of him. Barnswell went out on a foul tip as the inning ended.

Munn went around for the Poodle Dog in the following frame to garner that team's lone marker.

The cafemen almost came through in the final frame when Henry Harris, regular catcher forced out of the series with a poisoned leg, entered the fray as a pinch hitter and rapped out a single. Jack O'Connor who had reached first on a bingle and gone around on a sacrifice hit, tried to come home on Harris's drive, but Umpire Pick gave a hairline decision against him at the plate.

Clever field work was shown by both sides as they helped to make the fixture one of the best of the series.

KRESGES WIN

Scoring seven runs in the fifth inning, Kresges Cardinals triumphed over the North Saanich Service Club women's softball squad yesterday evening at Central Park to take the lead in the two-out-of-three-game play-off series. The initial fixture between the clubs resulted in a 10 to 10 tie. The third fixture will be held to-morrow at Central Park at 6.10 o'Clock, with Price and Stewart in charge.

FIVE C's WIN CRICKET GAME

Defeat Hudson's Bay 119 to 95; Adie High Scorer With Sixty-three Runs

Five C's cricket eleven yesterday afternoon defeated the Hudson's Bay 119 to 95 in a Berger Cup fixture at Beacon Hill Park. Vernon Adie led the scoring when he chalked up sixty-three runs for the winners.

The fine bowling of Eric Quainton and Noel Smith for the C's, could not be withstood by the first seven Hudson's Bay bats, in the first innings Six wickets had fallen for the low total of thirty-two runs, but the hitting of Bishop and Smith improved the score.

A fine defensive innings was made by Jimmy Oakman for the losers and he was undefeated at the close, with a fine score of forty-six runs.

Four wickets were lost for thirty-nine runs by the Five C's, who opened weakly, and had it not been for the splendid hitting of Adie C's would have been hard pressed to win. He had nine fours and one six in his innings. Norman and Frank Tyrrell bowled and fielded in good style for the Boys.

Crucial Series For Major Ball Teams

Important Games Billed as Clubs Open Final Drive for championships; Giants and Cards Win in National; Detroit Bolsters American Lead

By HUGH S. FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

As the major baseball league season draws near the final month the schedule calls for one important series after another, almost without interruption. So far there has been no real decision as the St. Louis Cardinals challenged the New York Giants and registered only a slight gain, and the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers came out all square.

Still another "crucial" series opens to-day as the Giants and Chicago Cubs bring their guns to bear on each other with the National League lead again at stake. The league leaders have had a breathing spell since their struggle with St. Louis, trimming the Reds four times running despite a few close calls, and winding up with a 3 to 0 victory yesterday.

The Cubs, who have split even in ten games on the road since the end of their great home stand that put them in the running, tuned up their batting eyes by slamming out thirty-seven hits and thirty-one runs against the Phillies, but they got only an even break that put them four games off the lead and one behind the Cards, who trimmed the Boston Braves 13 to 3 to give Dizzy Dean his twenty-first mound victory. The Phils withstood the shelling in the opener to win 13 to 12, but succumbed to a sixth inning rally in the second in which sixteen Cubs went to bat and twelve scored and lost the afterpiece, 19 to 5.

SEVENTEEN FOR SCHUMACHER

To set up against that slugging the Giants presented the hurling of Hal Schumacher, who blanked the Reds with eight hits in a keen duel with Gene Schott to gain his seventeenth victory of the year and the fifteenth of his career over Cincinnati. The Cardinal victory also had its unique features as the club had only two assists and Jim Collins at first handled only one chance and had no putouts.

With nearly all the clubs doing things in a big way, Lou Gehrig of the Yankees stepped in with another record performance as his club divided a twin bill with the St. Louis Browns. Lou belted a home run with the bases full to lead the way to a 14 to 2 triumph in the opener. That was either his seventeenth, according to the traveling scribes with the Yanks, or his eighteenth with the bases full, according to Gehrig. A complete review of his more than 1,600 games will be needed to decide the issue, but at any rate he beat Babe Ruth's lifetime mark of sixteen homers with the corners crammed. Lou went on to hit another homer in the afterpiece, but Johnny Murphy could not hold the lead and St. Louis won the game 14 to 3.

The Yankee split enabled Detroit to increase its lead to seven games as the Tigers trimmed the Boston Red Sox twice 4 to 1 and 3 to 2 with "General" Al Crowder pitching four-hit ball in the opener. Meanwhile Cleveland broke even with the Philadelphia Athletics, winning the second game 3 to 0 behind Lloyd Brown's fourt-hit flinging after taking a 10 to 5 beating when Jimmy Foxx smacked his twenty-sixth homer and Bob Johnson his twenty-third. And the Chicago White Sox absorbed a 16 to 7 licking from the Washington Senators.

HOME RUNS YESTERDAY

Buddy Myer shoved Hank Greenberg out of the Six Six yesterday in one of the almost daily changes in the ranking of the American League hitting leaders, whil Arky Vaughan, Big Six pace setter, went hitless four times at the plate and still did not drop below the .440 mark. Myer, hitting three times in six attempts, sent his average up two points to tie Doc Cramer for the second American League berth, while Greenberg hit only one out of seven for a three-point loss. Joe Vosmik led the clouting with four hits in nine times up, while Joe Medwick and Gabby Hartnett each hit three out of five.

COAST LEAGUE

A hustling Portland ball club gets credit for the best sustained pennant-ward drive of a nip and tuck second half Coast League season.

Until three weeks ago the Ducks were hovering unobstrusively close to the second division. Then came a steady upward surge and yesterday they beat the league leading San Francisco Missions 5 to 4, to pull up within a half a game of the top.

The contest was a thriller. The bags were loaded in the ninth with one out when Eddie Joost purposely dropped a high fly to catch Chandler at home. Mike Frankovich merely touched the plate, making no play for Chandler and the run counted.

Sacramento registered their second straight win over the San Francisco Seals, 9 to 8.

A home run by Vic Dimaggio with two aboard, broke up a ten inning contest between Hollywood and Seattle, with the Stars on the long end of a 7 to 4 score. Hank McDonald's four-hit pitching, coupled with homers by Bell, Malibo and Nation, gave Oakland an 8 to 2 victory over Los Angeles.

Greyhound Sets Trotting Marks

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 22.—Greyhound, winner of the Hambletonian, set a new world record for three-year-old geldings in trotting a two-minute mile yesterday to win the feature event on the Illinois State Fair programme.

Greyhound, owned by the Baker Stables of St. Charles, Ill., and driven by Sep Palin of Indianapolis, easily took the first heat of the three-year-old trot in 2.05, finishing a length ahead without difficulty.

Palin turned the horse loose in the second heat, coming in well ahead in two minutes.

Second place in both heats went to the Saint, also owned by the Baker Stables.

In both heats, Greyhound did not take the lead until the three-quarter mark.

TWITE SCORES CENTURY HERE

Cowichan Star Puts up 103 But Victoria Wins Cricket Match By 23 Runs

A splendid century by C. W. Twite, who put up 103 for the first time in Macdonald Park, was not enough to save his Cowichan team from defeat in the cricket match against the Victoria club yesterday afternoon.

The local side, led by Wilkinson in the bowling lists and Barber Strakey on the attack, defeated the up-islanders by twenty-three runs in one of the best fixtures the cricket week has produced.

The final scores were 209 for Victoria and 186 for Cowichan.

After the first two wickets had fallen cheaply, Victoria players hit their stride as Comley put up 39 and Mitchell added another 20 after Willcox had been dismissed for two. Barber Starkey, with 40, was high batsman for the local side, while Austin, with 17, Goward with 27, and Peers with 10 reached double figures.

Apart from Twite, Cowichan batters fared poorly against the local bowling. Considine scored 25 and the remainder of the team were all under the twenty mark.

Wilkinson took six wickets for 55 runs in 21.1 overs, while Baiss, Cowichan, took four for 38 in fourteen overs.

Heavy Increase In B.C. Building

Permits for July Shows Unusual Activity; All Cities in Province Affected

Building permits issued in British Columbia during July sho l an increase of $918,910, or 156.8 per cent more than in the preceding month, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. All other provinces showed a dec e.

New construction to the value of $1,504,823 was authorized in July, as compared with $585,913 in June and $137,815 in July, 1934. Most of this work was begun in Vancouver, where permits were issued to the amount of $1,377,410. This was an increase of $866,690 over June and more than a million and a quarter over July, 1934.

Victoria issued permits for new construction amounting to $84,440 in July, as compared with $26,715 in June and $31,473 in July a year ago

New Westminster's figures were $26,650 for July, $17,500 for June and $1,700 for July, 1934.

Nanaimo, Prince Rupert and North Vancouver also showed increases over both other months.

NEWS IN BRIEF

A special meeting will be held by the Seafarers' Industrial Union at 1304 Government Street to-morrow night at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to attend.

The Victoria West Liberal Social Club will hold a military five hundred card party this evening in the clubrooms, 414 Skinner Street, at 8 o'clock, in order to swell their sick fund.

The Island Youth Liberal Association, which met in Metchosin Hall, on Monday last, recorded its support of the new deal movement for the island. This association is independent of the Twentieth Century Club.

Appointment of John Haan of Queen Charlotte B.C. as justice of the peace was announced at the Legislative Buildings to-day. John Mathers, Sandspit, has resigned as a J.P.

An invitation to attend the Gyro luncheon next Monday in the Empress Hotel to hear Basil Campbell, leader of the move for national government, was extended to members of the Rotary Club to-day.

Total bank clearings of the week ended August 22 was $1,461,490 according to a statement issued by the Victoria Clearing House this morning. The figures for the same period last year was $1,243,999.

Members of the Rotary Club and their wives to-day were invited to attend the intercity club picnic to be held at Newcastle Island next Wednesday. The outing, a basket picnic, is being sponsored by the Vancouver club. Sports and other entertainment have been arranged for the day.

Relief loans aggregating nearly $20,000 were made by the provincial government to-day to four B.C. municipalities. The total was divided as follows: North Vancouver city, $12,000; North Vancouver district, $5,500; Salmon Arm, $950 and Cranbrook $600.

POOR FRENCH COMPLIMENT

H. N. Stovin, Radio Executive, Tells of Bi-lingual Announcements

An unusual angle on the bilingualism of Canada was given to-day by H. N. Stovin, western regional programme director of the Canadian Radio Commission, who was in Victoria to-day admitting frankly that he was "looking for brickbats."

The extremely bad French of some western announcers who introduce programmes in both languages is regarded as a high compliment by French-Canadians, said Mr. Stovin. Quebec residents consider that bi-lingual announcements from Western origin points are a polite gesture to themselves. The poorness of the French only emphasizes the compliment.

TIME DIFFICULTIES

Mr. Stovin mentioned the difficulty through the time differences in the Dominion of providing satisfactory service to British Columbia. He pointed out that 6 o'clock, the hour at which the Radio Commission comes on the air from Vancouver, is 11 o'clock at night in the Maritimes.

Mr. Stovin stated that CRCV, Vancouver Canadian Radio Commission outlet, was shortly to be raised from 1,000 to 5,000 watts power, greatly improving reception in Victoria.

CHANGES OF STATION POOR

He was not optimistic as to Victoria's chances of getting a commission station. The installation of such an outlet would need heavy capital backing, radio in all its phases being an extremely expensive service.

Mr. Stovin mentioned a trend in Canadian Radio Commission policy towards the elimination of programmes of lower quality originating in small cities, and the concentration of talent into the main centres, Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and the like.

Mr. Stovin is registered at the Empress Hotel. His headquarters are in Regina.

Vancouver to Get Radio Building

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 21—Tenders will be called soon for construction of a new building for the Vancouver broadcasting station of the Canadian Radio Commission, a letter received by the Vancouver Board of Trade from Hector Charlesworth, Radio Commission chairman, stated.

Work will be started on the new building before the end of the year It is expected the new station will give CRCV a power of at least 5000 watts.

NONAGENARIAN IS CALLED TO REST

Jeremiah Pearce of 948 Tolmie Avenue, passed away yesterday in his ninety-third year.

Mr. Pearce was born in Crewkerne, Somersetshire, England, and had been living in Victoria for thirty-three years. He is survived by two sons, James and William, both in Victoria, and one sister, Mrs. W. Kelly, in England.

The remains are resting in Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will be held on Saturday at 3.30 p.m., and interment will be in the family plot in Ross Bay Cemetery.

ROTARY HEARS LOCAL SINGERS

Operatic Society Group Renders Excellent Programme for Clubmen and Wives

Members of the Victoria Civic Opera Society to-day entertained Rotary Club members and their wives with a delightful programme of operatic airs, at the club luncheon in the Empress Hotel.

After a short talk by Harry J. Davis, who outlined the objects of the society, the clubmen warmly applauded the performance of the local artists.

Mr. Davis sought to enlist the support of the club for this cultural movement and to publicize Victoria's talent.

It was the first time an effort had been made to organize a co-operative society. He paid tribute to the ability of Basil Horsfall, the society's musical conductor.

CAPABLE DIRECTOR

Mr. Horsfall had a lifetime experience in music and drama, and was wholly capable of his position. Mrs. Dorothy Wilson would have charge of the ballet dancing.

The presentations were to be something that had never been seen here in an amateur way before.

The light opera, "The Chocolate Soldier," would come next, and then "Aida."

The organization was trying to follow the example of the San Francisco Civic Opera. The speaker referred to the publicity value of the society, adding also it was providing a wholesome relaxation for young men and women of Victoria.

OCCUPATION GIVEN

Some of the men who were receiving instructions were unemployed and living at the Y.M.C.A. and Salvation Army, he said.

"Think of it as your own organization, we are only doing what we can for Victoria," Mr. Davis said. The society only hoped to meet expenses financially and the reward was to be the entertainment provided for Victoria and the development of cultured local artists

OPERATIC PROGRAMME

The following programme was presented by the members of the society: "When All Was Young" from "Faust," sung by Miss Phyllis Deaville; "Fierce Flames" from "Il Trovatore," sung by Mrs. Ruth Helen Tait; "Home to Our Mountain" from "Il Trovatore," by Dr. Harry Johns and Mrs. Tait; "Elsa's Dream" from "Lohengrin," by Miss Dorothy Parsons; "Vissi D'Arte" from "La Tosca," by Thelma Johns; "Those Accents" from "Il Trovatore," Thelma and Harry Johns. Mr. Horsfall acted as accompanist.

Duncan MacBride acted as chairman for the programme, and Herb Pendray, president, expressed the club's thanks to the artists. Te presented bouquets to the ladies for their contributions.

BUREAU'S WORK WELL REWARDED

Newspapers in China, U.S. and England Tell of Victoria's Tourist Attractions

To-day's mail of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau brought proof of the bureau's efforts to spread information through newspapers and magazines covering a wide field.

The next envelope contained a notice of the same falls which appeared in The Bridlington Free Press, Yorkshire, England.

The Greeters' Guide of Vancouver was picked up and was found to carry a descriptive article of Victoria, an article on fishing on Vancouver Island and another describing the beauty spots on the island.

A tear sheet from The London Daily Mail, which has a circulation of approximately 2,500,000, was received in which was featured an article by Lord Baden Powell, telling of his recent visit to this city and of his fishing here and recounting for the pleasure of the thousands of scout readers he has the story of Cadborosaurus.

Perhaps the bureau officials were most pleased with the fine descriptive articles of Victoria appearing in the August issue of News and Views, which is published in New York and is the house journal of General Motors, the largest automobile company in the world.

News and Views has a world-wide circulation, which is distributed not only the length and breadth of the North American continent but also through the auxiliary companies and representatives of General Motors throughout the world.

This article, which is devoted to a description of Victoria, is illustrated by four exceptionally fine reproduced photographs of this city, showing the Malahat Drive, Hatley Park, the Inner Harbor and a fine catch of salmon at Brentwood Bay.

This fine co-operation has been obtained through the untiring efforts of Frank Giolma, publicity writer for the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau.

Hon. G. M. Weir, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education, returned to the city to-day after an absence of several days on the mainland. Attorney-General Sloan is expected back toward the end of the week from a tour of inspection of provincial police detachments. Next week Hon. F. M. MacPherson, Minister of Public Works, will leave on a visit to the interior to inspect hard-surfacing work done on the roads this summer.

FIVE BUTTON FISH

"These are just the big ones," said Fred E. W. "Doc" Smith, veteran trolling expert of the famed Saanich Arm salmon area as he produced this snap after a day's fishing there last week. "I don't count 'em unless they're a decent size," he added. In the picture are five fish weighing over twenty pounds any one of which entitles a member of the Victoria-Saanich Arm Anglers' Association to a bronze button. The little one on the right is only nineteen pounds. In the picture "Doc" is standing on the left. With him is James Moreton, a visitor from Calgary, who he was initiating into the art of salmon trolling when the catch was made.

WILL DISCUSS RECEIVERSHIP

Esquimalt Ratepayers to Vote Next Wednesday on Asking for Receiver

Receivership for Esquimalt is being considered by the Ratepayers' Association of the municipality. The advisability of asking the provincial government to place a receiver in charge of the municipality's affairs will be considered at a special meeting to be held next Wednesday evening at Our Lady Queen of Peace Church.

Bishop George Exton Lloyd, president of the association, stated at a meeting last night that he understood that a majority vote of the ratepayers was all that was needed to have a receiver appointed.

Councillor T. Henry Hodgson, one of the association's two representatives on the municipal council, stated that he intended to expound his views on the necessity for a receivership at next Wednesday's meeting.

OPPOSE RE-ASSESSMENT

The association intends to place a resolution before the municipal council asking that the proposed re-assessments of improvements in Esquimalt be deferred until next year. The resolution will be presented at a special meeting of the council called for Monday to appoint an assessor of improvements in connection with the plan.

The reason for this action was given as the provincial government's statement that a board of assessors for cities and municipalities was to be set up shortly.

OLDER MEN ARE LET OUT

Move in Liquor Board Staffs Seen as Forerunner of Pension Plan

Hopes of B.C. Liquor Control Board employees for pension schemes like those for other employees of the government appear closer to realization as the result of a policy of reducing the general age among the staffs, it was learned to-day.

Ten or a dozen men in the warehouse and stores staffs who were over seventy years of age, have been dismissed in the last month to make way for younger men.

One of the benefits of this policy, it is understood, will be to reduce the general age of those employed so that a superannuation scheme which can be made financially sound may be worked out.

Proposals for pension schemes for board employees have fallen down in the past due to the high average age which would make them too costly both to the wage-earners and the government.

It is not anticipated any immediate scheme will be worked out, but the government has it in mind.

Funeral Friday of Donald A. McPhee

Funeral services will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock over the remains of Donald Alexander McPhee, of Cordova Bay, who passed away suddenly on Sunday last. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Mr. McPhee was born in Ontario and had been resident in this province for forty-four years. He was a timber cruiser in the employ of the E. and N. Railway Company. He is survived by three sisters, Misses Edna and Mary McPhee, Cranbrook, and Mrs. Gorin, Ontario, and three brothers, Herbert B., and Clifford McPhee, of Cranbrook.

A HEROIC SON

St. Ives, Eng., Aug. 22.—The Royal Humane Society has awarded Peter Hemphill, fifteen-year-old son of Major Robert Hemphill, its bronze medal for his heroic but vain attempt to save his father and mother from death. He climbed 400 feet down Cornish cliffs where his parents had fallen.

Compensation Act Criticized

Frank Higgins, K.C., Discusses Measure at Labor Meeting

Because it contained no right of appeal the Workmen's Compensation Act was viewed as a despotic measure by Frank Higgins, K.C., president of the Victoria Bar Association, in an address to members of the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening.

The council will consider the appointment of a labor committee to discuss with a committee from the legal association needed changes in the act.

Mr. Higgins contended the act had been prepared without right of appeal because of a fear of excessive litigation costs. He cited countries which had adopted industrial protection acts, stating that in every case, except in Canada and South America, appeal was permitted.

The speaker advocated an independent tribunal to sit as an appeal body and assured there would be reasonable litigation costs if appeal provisions were made.

R. D. Harvey, another local lawyer, claimed the act should provide cash benefits for workmen even in cases of contributory negligence. He supported Mr. Higgins's stand, claiming applicants should be allowed to go before the courts if they felt they had been unfairly treated.

In a general discussion which followed the talks, members expressed themselves as being strongly in favor of the right of appeal. Members who had appeared before the board seeking compensation, who had been refused, also told of their cases in support of their contention of need for appeal.

Equitable Life Party Here

Assurance Society to Open Two-day Conference Here To-morrow

Advance guard of a group of approximately 125 delegates and guests to t northwest regional educational conference of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of New York, Charles H. McCoy, Spokane agency manager, arrived at the Empress Hotel to-day to make preliminary arrangements for the sessions of his organization. The main body of the group was due in the afternoon.

The conference will be attended by officers from Seattle, Portland and Spokane, headed by their respective managers, C. J. Sauter, T. Howard Groves and Mr. McCoy.

Outstanding figures at the conference will be Albert G. Borden, New York, second vice-president of the company; Gage E. Tarbell, New York, senior director; W. H. Glines, San Francisco, superintendent of agencies in the western department; Major W. O. Hearsey, Los Angeles, sales supervisor of the group department in the west, and Robert McHugh, Los Angeles, his assistant.

Mr. Hearsey and Mr. McCoy will be accompanied by their wives.

SESSIONS TO-MORROW

The first of two sessions will be held at the hotel to-morrow morning and the second on Saturday morning. The rest of the time will be spent by the delegates in seeing the sights around the city.

A profound admirer of Victoria, Mr. McCoy has been an annual visitor here for the last thirty years. He is a member of the Seniors' Golf Association and considers himself Victoria's best booster in the state of Washington.

"I don't know of any place in the world I like better than Victoria," Mr. McCoy said to-day. His wife shares his appreciation of the distinctive atmosphere of the city.

CARGO "FAIR" UNIONS SAY

Loading of Coal on Ss. Derblay at Nanaimo Proceeds To-day

Canadian Press

Nanaimo, B.C., Aug. 22.—The crew of the Alaska Steamship Company's Ss. Derblay, which tied up here last night following the men's refusal to load 450 tons of sack coal for northern points, to-day agreed to proceed with the loading.

James Keane and A. M. Murphy, delegated to handle the dispute for the deck crew and engine room staff, appealed to the local of the Waterfront and Transport Workers of Canada, who in turn communicated with the Vancouver head office of the union. The delegates also appealed to the International Seamen's Union at Seattle.

Both unions were reported to have declared the cargo "fair" and work will proceed.

In computing the number of words in an advertisement estimate groups of three or less figures as one word. Dollar marks and all abbreviations count as one word.

In estimating the number of lines in an advertisement count five words for the first two lines and seven words for each line thereafter. This is not an absolute guide to the number of lines, much depending on the length of the individual words.

The Times will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any advertisement ordered for more than one issue. Any claim for rebate on account of errors or omissions must be made within thirty days from the date of the same, otherwise the claim will not be allowed.

Advertisers who desire it may have replies addressed to a box at The Times Office and forwarded to their private address. A charge of 10c is made for this service.

Subscribers wishing their addresses changed should notify this office as well as the carrier. If your Times is missing, phone E7523 before 8 p.m. and a copy will be sent by special messenger.

RECIPROCITY IS OPPOSED

U.S. Cattlemen Fear Influx Into Country of Foreign Beef

Canadian Press

Washington, Aug. 22—A group of Western House members, headed by the acting majority leader, Colorado's representative, Edward T. Taylor, plan a conference soon with President Roosevelt in regard to reciprocal trade agreements with Canada and South American countries affecting the livestock industry.

Taylor, as dean of the Western delegation, was asked to make the White House appointment. He said he was hopeful the group could see the President before the week is out.

"There is a genuine fear among Western livestock men that these trade agreements will result in an influx of foreign beef and beef products," said Taylor. "We want assurances from the President that the domestic livestock industry will be protected."

Taylor said: "For the first time in years the cattlemen will have an opportunity to make a little money. Drought and other conditions have struck the livestock industry hard, and we want nothing to happen which will jeopardize their chances now."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull has advised western senators that no programme is planned which will injure the domestic industry, but Taylor said livestock men are still fearful of possibilities from the reciprocal trade agreement policies.

ONTARIO TREKKERS RETURNING HOME

Ottawa, Aug. 22—Ontario relief trekkers broke camp here to-day and headed back for Toronto over the highways that carried them here three weeks ago.

Uneasy over reports the men were armed with stout clubs and had piles of rocks in readiness for a melee, fifty police patrolled the streets near the park last night.

Since their arrival in Ottawa, there have been no disorders although four or five trekkers have been arrested for begging on the streets.

Get Added Money

Montreal, Aug. 22—A few crisp bank notes will be added to the glory earned by Canadian professionals who finish one-two-three in the Canadian open golf tournament here, next week.

Since the war the Canadian professionals, teachers to a man, have not been able to wrest the title from the United States crack golfers who follow the winter and summer tournament circles in the country to the south, and are always at the top of their game by the time the Canadian open rolls around.

Consequently, to give the home-breds more incentive, the committee of Summerlea Golf Club, scene of the tournament on August 29-31, have offered $75 to the lowest scoring Canadian pro, $50 to the second and $25 to the third.

CORPORATION OF THE TOWNSHIP OF ESQUIMALT

Sealed tenders will be received by the undersigned at the Municipal Hall, Esquimalt, until 5 p.m., Monday, August 26, 1935, for the construction of approximately 1,500 lineal feet of 15-inch sewer and 950 lineal feet of 8-inch sewer.

Tenders must be sealed and marked plainly on the outside "Tender for Sewers." Each tender must be accompanied by a certified cheque for 10% of the amount of the tender.

G. H. FULLEN, C.M.C.

NOTICE

HUGO CLASSIC AT PLAYHOUSE

"Les Miserables" Stars Frederic March and Charles Laughton

Victor Hugo's immortal classic, "Les Miserables," was brought to the screen of the Playhouse Theatre to-day in Darryl Zanuck's lavish production of the novel for Twentieth Century Pictures, starring Frederic March, Charles Laughton and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, under the direction of Richard Boleslawski.

The role of Jean Valjean, celebrated convict hero who spends five brutalizing years in the galleys of a French prison ship for the theft of a loaf of bread and finds his whole future life darkened by the petty crime, is the greatest undertaking of March's brilliant screen career. Laughton, as the fanatical detective, Javert, who has dedicated his life to the literal interpretation of the law, offers a characterization which affords a psychological glimpse into the strange workings of the mind of a man-hunter.

Rochelle Hudson, John Beal and Frances Drake supply a love theme that forms a romantic counterplot to Jean Valjean's desperate career.

ROYAL OAK

Mrs. H. M. Eddie and her daughter, Mary of Chilliwack, are visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Grant, "Bonnie Doone," West Saanich Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Halloway, Sayward Road, left to-day for a three week's trip to Elhorn and Verdon, Manitoba.

CAPITOL THEATRE

Behind the "movie debut" of Sid Grauman, Hollywood's most famous theatre owner and operator, in "Call of the Wild," curently at the Capitol Theatre, there lies a story as romantic as any of the screen plays that have flashed across the screens of his theatres.

For the Grauman fortune, which later built up a tremendous theatre chain on the Pacific Coast, may be traced back to the gold dust "washed" by a father and son during those stirring days in the Klondike.

The son was none other than Sid Grauman, and a visit to the "Call of the Wild" set, where his friend, Darryl Zanuck, was completing the first four days' shooting of the Jack London classic before the company entrained for a location trip to sub-zero Mount Baker in Washington, where the remainder of the film was made, brought back to Grauman vivid memories of the days of '98, when he had gone to Alaska with his father and become a prospector.

MARTINDALE SIGNED

Bridgetown, Barbadoes, Aug. 22.—E. A. Martindale, West Indies' fast bowler, has signed to play with Burnley, in the Lancashire Cricket League, for one year, it was learned here yesterday. He will leave for England next spring.

Where To Go To-night
As Advertised

Columbia—Florence Rice in "Fugitive Lady."

HAND SHOULD BE TIMED

Many Players Lose Four Spade Contract by Failing to Stop and Figure Out Opponent's Holding

By WM. E. McKENNEY

Here's an interesting point brought to my attention by William Hill, tournament director of the Banfield bridge studio in New York. He said that after each duplicate game he generally looks over the hands and it is surprising to find the number of supposedly simple hands that are missed at every table.

Take for example to-day's hand. After looking it over, it is not hard to make four spades, but still for some reason the majority of tables failed to make the contract simply because they did not time the hand properly and manage the trumps correctly.

West: ♠ Q 10 3 ♥ K 9 8 4 ♦ 10 9 8 6 ♣ Q 8
East: ♠ 8 ♥ 7 6 2 ♦ K 7 4 ♣ A K J 6 4 3
South: ♠ K J 9 7 6 4 2 ♥ Q 10 ♦ J 2 ♣ 10 2

THE PLAY

In response to partner's club bid, West players naturally opened the queen of clubs. When it held, they continued with the eight spot, East winning the trick with the jack. The king of clubs was returned, South ruffed with the nine spot and West over-ruffed with the ten.

At this point, declarer had lost the first three tricks. He could not lose any more and make his contract.

West's next play was the ten of diamonds. Now, if declarer would stop to think of the bidding and remember that East made a vulnerable overcall of two clubs, he would have something besides the ace and king of clubs.

This diamond play practically marked East with the king. Of course, he might also have the king of hearts, in which case there was no chance to make the contract.

The careless declarer would play a small diamond and allow East's king to make. However, as Hill pointed out, the hand could be made if the declarer went right up with the ace of diamonds and then led a low spade from dummy, winning with the king.

The queen of hearts then could be played. West's best defense was to cover with the king, trying to block declarer in dummy.

Now a small heart could be returned and won by declarer with the ten. All declarer would have to do now would be to play a small spade and win in dummy with the ace. This would pick up the outstanding trump, and the jack of hearts would be good, upon which the losing jack of diamonds could be discarded.

Today's Contract Problem

North is playing the contract at three no trump. East's opening lead is the four of diamonds. What line of play must North pursue to make his contract?

North: ♠ K 10 5 ♥ 6 3 2 ♦ 9 6 2 ♣ Q 10 9 8
West: ♠ J 8 7 6 ♥ 2 ♦ 7 5 ♣ J 10 8 ♣ K J 6

'FUGITIVE LADY' IS BILLED HERE

Neil Hamilton Is Star of New Melodrama at Columbia

"'Acid comedy' is the label that has been attached to me in Hollywood," commented blonde Clara Blandick, "because I have played the roles of an acid old maid, embittered widow or mother, or very sarcastic spinster secretary, in nearly fifty pictures in five years. But I like it, and apparently the producers like my characterizations. You know I came here late in 1928 just for a stage play in Los Angeles. But the pictures called for me as soon as the play ended its run, and I haven't gotten back east since."

Miss Blandick is the laugh-provoking old maid aunt to Neil Hamilton, handsome and popular screen star, in the romantic melodrama "Fugitive Lady," which comes to the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Nella Walker, former vaudeville headliner, plays the role of fond mother to Neil Hamilton in "Fugitive Lady," while suave Donald Cook is seen in his first screen role as a "heavy," playing the polite crook who messes up the girl's romance. Florence Rice is the feminine lead.

Detective Story Opens To-morrow

Warner Oland's latest screen appearance as that genial and philosophical Chinese sleuth, Charlie Chan—one of the most completely captivating detective heroes, will open at the Dominion Theatre to-morrow.

In this picture, is the eighth of the famed Chan series. "Charlie Chan in Egypt" is the biggest and most pretentious Chan picture ever made and carries the interest from thrill-packed sequence to chill-packed sequence with Stepin Fetchit adding much well-received comedy.

The story carries Charlie Chan to the mystery-scented land of the Pharoahs, in the Valley of the Kings, amid the splendors and riches of the last resting places of the mighty monarchs of thousands of years ago. Priceless gold and jewelled treasure have been taken from among those brought to light by the French Historical Society's expedition, near Luxor on the Nile, and Charlie Chan is assigned to trace the thefts and the thieves. A killer strikes and with the shadowy hand of death casting its gloom over the entire family of the expedition's leader, Charlie Chan's skill and courage are tested to their limit.

For sheer suspense and ingenuity, the newest of Charlie Chan mysteries tops all its predecessors and Oland once more registers heavily in his most celebrated role.

Steels Reach New Highs In Active Wall St. Session

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 22—Steel stocks forged ahead in to-day's market to new highs for the year or longer. Some of the farm, mine and specialty issues were also in demand.

On the other hand, the majority of the rails, utilities, motors and aircrafts were narrow. The close was steady. Transfers approximated 1,700,000 shares.

A little profit taking was in evidence. Trading volume dwindled after a fast morning pace. Peak prices were not held to the end, but there were few casualties.

Washington developments did not appear especially stimulating or unsettling. The Italo-Ethiopian situation was being watched. Generally bright business news, however, was seen as the principal market motivating factor.

Commodities were of little assistance to equities. Wheat, corn and cotton shuffled about listlessly. U.S. government securities sagged and corporation bonds turned a bit irregular. The dollar improved against leading foreign exchanges.

Share gainers of fractions to 2 or more points, at new 1935 peaks, included such steels as United States, Bethlehem, Otis, National, Inland and Republic; also Case, International Harvester and Du Pont.

Among others up as much were Deere, Electric Auto-Lite, American Telephone, U.S. Smelting, Cerro de Pasco and American Smelting. Douglas Aircraft was about even and Public Service of New Jersey and United Fruit lost around a point each.

Brighter Tone On Bond Market

Associated Press

New York, Aug. 22.—Rail and utility issues were the most prominent beneficiaries of buying orders in the bond market to-day.

U.S. Governments and various high grade corporate loans aroused but slight trading interest, but values in these groups were steady to firm.

MINES WEAK AT TORONTO

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Heavy selling disrupted gold shares on the Toronto mining market to-day. Much of the selling was reported to be coming from New York. Losses up to more than a point were recorded.

New low prices for the year was touched by Lake Shore, McIntyre and Wright-Hargreaves and Hollinger at $12.75 was only 5 cents above the years' minimum. Lake Shore dropped more than a point to 47½, McIntyre ½ to 34⅞ and Dome ½ to 36¼ and the close was around these prices. Pioneer and Bralorne also weakened narrowly and Teck-Hughes held a minor advance.

God's Lake, Central Patricia, McWatters, Pickle Crow and Little Long Lac all displayed marked weakness, selling down 8 to 20 cents each. Smaller losses were chalked up by Macassa, Siscoe, McKenzie and Sylvanite.

Noranda and Hudson Bay were unchanged to a little higher, while Falconbridge and Base Metals Corporation held gains of a few cents each, and Sudbury Basin and Sherritt worked lower. Castle closed a cent or two higher, while Eldorado, Bear and Premier showed little change at the finish. Oils were firm and slow.

Wheat Prices Dip At Winnipeg With Hedging Prevalent

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Wheat prices declined on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day despite a strong Liverpool market and small export sales. Values closed 1⅜ to ¾ cents lower, August at 86⅜, October 85⅝ and December 85½ cents.

Scattered selling, including some "hedging" from elevator interests, was prevalent and light support in evidence was insufficient to absorb the offerings.

Liverpool, responsive to sharp advances in North American markets yesterday, was strong, closing ⅝ to ½d higher. Buenos Aires at noon was ¾ to ⅞ cent advanced. Minneapolis generally was steady, but Chicago was erratic, off a cent at one period.

It was estimated approximately 225,000 bushels of Canadian wheat was sold for export overnight and during the session.

No. 4 Northern Wheat was in demand in the cash-grain section, prices on that grade advancing about a cent. Coarse grains futures prices followed wheat.

Chicago, Aug. 22 (Associated Press)—The wheat market's two-day advance which added four cents to prices was checked to-day by sellers who took the chance to accept profits. Losses of about a cent a bushel resulted from moderate liquidation that included some hedging.

The world wheat situation, considered bullish by many traders, showed little change but broad speculative buying failed to appear. Pressure on the market was light, however.

Wheat closed ½ to 1⅛ cents below the previous finish, December 90⅞-91, and corn was ⅛-½ lower, December 55⅞. Oats lost ½-¾, rye ½-⅝ and barley ⅛-½.

Lard closed 15 points higher to 20 higher.

Industrials Range Narrow

Canadian Press

Toronto, Aug. 22.—Trading jobbed along slowly on the Toronto industrial share market to-day and prices were barely able to hold as scattered offering appeared. Oils were up early but only Imperial and Supertest ordinary were able to close on the upside. Liquors closed narrowly off, moving with the general trend.

Many traders were inclined to let the political sky clear a bit assuming new commitments.

Imperial Oil closed just under 20 for a gain of ¼ point. British American closed off ⅛. Losses of the minimum fraction were posed also Distillers Seagrams and Walkers Common.

Food Shares were irregularly lower, utilities gave about the same display and price changes in the Steels were on the downside.

Reno Most Active To Slip 3 Cents On Mainland Mart

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—Reno was down another three cents at the close of the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange today, ending at 84 after touching a low of 81 cents.

Reno brought most active trading on the board, turning over more than 16,000 shares. Total turnover for the day ended at 82,000 shares.

A number of stocks came out for declines of two cents, among which were Big Missouri, Island Mountain, Premier and Sheep Creek. Cariboo dropped sharply under light trading, declining ten cents.

BRITANNIA OPTIONS TYEE

Undertakes Development Work at Mount Sicker Preparatory to Installing Mill

An announcement from the Tyee Consolidated Mining Company says that the Britannia Mining and Smelting Company, which operates the mine and mill on Howe Sound, has entered into a deal to develop the Tyee company's properties at Mount Sicker on this island under an option to cover 75 per cent of the Tyee company's two million shares of stock.

Arrangements for this were made by C. V. Brennan, Britannia engineer, who went over the Mount Sicker workings this week and then concluded the deal for the option with Alex. MacKenzie, P. E. Petersson, mining engineer, and A. B. Christopher of C. L. H. Branson Ltd., the local fiscal agents.

Under the agreement the Britannia will at once proceed to dewater the old Tyee workings. This will enable Britannia engineers to conduct a thorough underground examination of the Tyee, the Lenora and the Richard III, all adjoining properties which were worked thirty years ago when Mount Sicker was a big producer, keeping two smelters going at Crofton and Ladysmith.

If ore values and quantities prove up to expectations, Britannia will put in a modern flotation mill on Mount Sicker and make it one of the major mining developments of the province.

The deal with Britannia, it was said, solves the Tyee's financing problems and assures a programme of work at Mount Sicker providing an increasing volume of employment during the autumn and winter.

Coffee and Sugar Trading Suspended

New York, Aug. 22.—Trading on the New York coffee and sugar exchange in old September contracts was suspended yesterday to prevent a short squeeze, and transactions in the new contract ended the day with net gains of 0.02 to 0.06 of a cent a pound.

Settlement of September contracts was ordered by the board of managers of the exchange to be made at 2.58 cents a pound, the close of that month to-day.

Trading in the old No. 1 December futures contracts was reduced to a liquidation basis with no new speculative or trade activity permitted.

RADIUM ANALYSIS

Regina, Aug. 21 (Canadian Press).—The provincial department of natural resouces has deceived report on analysis of pitchblende from Lake Athabasca showing 54 per cent Uranium Oxide, the content radium comes from. A ton of ore would contain 141.388 milligrams of radium according to the report. Radium is valued roughly at $7,500 a gram, and a milligram is 1-1,000th of a gram.

GOLD GETTING CHEAPER AGAIN

Canadian Press

Montreal, Aug. 22.—Gold is getting cheaper again and the downward movement has provided another puzzle for foreign exchange experts in the complicated currency situation.

Bar gold was quoted to-day in London at 139s 11½d, the lowest point in about a year. A month age the quotation was 141s ½d.

Several factors have been suggested here as having affected the price. The general view is that buying by the United States Government of sterling exchange to be used in the purchase of silver in London started an upward swing in sterling. As sterling became stronger, the London price of gold became lower as a consequence. Support for that view was given by the higher New York quotations in sterling.

Meanwhile, however, both London and New York funds are stronger in terms of gold and, incidentally, so are Canadian funds. A month ago, the gold value of these currencies was: Pound 12s, United States dollar 59.12c and Canadian dollar 59.07c.

To-day the corresponding figures were: Pound 12s 2d, United States dollar 59.27c and Canadian dollar 59.14c.

Use by Italy of part of her gold reserves for the purchase of supplies is believed to have increased the available supply of the yellow metal on the London market and affected the price.

Another suggestion is that the tangled international situation has caused the transfer of considerable sums to London from Europe.

Spanish Troops Are Now on Move

Associated Press

Madrid, Aug. 22.—The Spanish press to-day published a communique from Minister of Interior Portela minimizing the movement of troops to the Mediterranean frontiers and deprecating comments it was a precautionary measure in the event of Italo-Ethiopian war.

"Some found a pretext to initiate alarm in a decision reached by he government at the last cabinet session," it said. (This refers to a project for a law for military mobilization.) "In internal affairs there is no reason whatsoever for the tranquility of citizens to be troubled. In the international field we have the most optimistic hopes of a solution for he conflict about which the world is talking."

Numerous steps for strengthening Spanish garrisons were announced yesterday.

NOTED JURIST VISITOR HERE

to attend the Canadian Bar Association meeting. To-morrow he will speak before the Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel.

His present visit is his first to the Pacific Coast of Canada. In 1930 he came as far as Toronto with a party of jurists.

ADMIRES COUNTRY

"I think your country is marvelous," the distinguished visitor stated, adding he had greatly enjoyed golf and the scenery at Jasper Park and was looking forward to a short stay at Banff on his return journey.

Sir Boyd is combining a pleasure trip with an informal speaking tour. He spoke yesterday in Vancouver and plans to give a few sidelights on admiralty proceedings to the Canadian Club here. He will also be heard in Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal on his return.

Questioned on divorce issues and matters related to the Italian-Ethiopian trouble, Sir Boyd reminded his interviewers those were matters on which he could give no statement.

Had he remained in the House of Commons, in which he represented the Rusholme division of Manchester, he would have been pleased to give his views, he stated.

SLUM CLEARANCE

Asked about slum clearance work in Manchester, the eminent jurist stated Manchester was shouldering its burden well in that work.

"I enjoy my life on the bench very much indeed, but I suppose anyone who has been a member of the House of Commons regrets leaving it."

Touching on one of his favorite hobbies, golf, he stated he had enjoyed a fine round at Jasper and had played bar association leaders in Vancouver. He is looking forward to trying the local courses during his short stay.

"My daughter and I are enjoying our trip enormously. The welcome we have been given by everybody has been perfectly charming," he said

LIKES GARDENS

Although he had not been able to see much of Victoria during his short stay to-day, he expressed his appreciation of gardens on the Pacific Coast. One he had visited might have been taken from an English country home, he said.

Dealing slightly with his work in the Admiralty division, Sir Boyd stated that in over 50 per cent of the cases on which he sat one of the ships involved was foreign and in nearly one-eighth of the cases both were not British.

He cited an instance of a United States ship which had gone ashore near Heligoland. It had been salved by German tugs and taken into Hamburg, but the parties involved had mutually agreed to trial in the Admiralty court in London.

New Zealand's War Position

Canadian Press via Reuters

Wellington, Aug. 22. — Premier George W. Forbes reiterated last night that any war in which Great Britain became involved was automatically the concern of New Zealand.

While the Prime Minister was addressing a public meeting he was heckled regarding his statement during his recent visit to Canada that if Britain went to war New Zealand would automatically participate. Mr. Forbes replied that was merely a repetition of a previous statement in parliament, that if Britain became involved in war this country also would be involved.

"Obviously," the Premier continued, "if war occurred, the very first step would be the summoning of parliament to consider New Zealand's position."

Tarzan The Untamed

Sure that the girl had been here, Tarzan silently entered the hut. Presently, in the gloom he saw an object outlined upon the floor. Stepping closer he leaned over to examine it—the dead body of a warrior, from whose chest protruded a spear.

Then he searched carefully the rest of the hut, returned to the body, stooped, and smelled of the weapon's shaft. A slow smile touched his lips—Tarzan understood what had happened in the hut before his arrival.

A rapid search of the village assured him the girl had escaped. He was again outside the palisade when faintly he heard an old, familiar sound. Balancing lightly upon a swaying branch he stood for a moment, a graceful statue of a forest god.

Tarzan listened intently. Then there broke from his lips the long, weird cry of ape calling to ape, and he was away through the jungle toward the sound of the beeming drum of the anthropoids, whom he knew were dancing the Dum-Dum.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. You are always telling women what they should do to retain their husbands' love. Why not tell men what they should do to keep their wives' interest in them alive? We no more admire unshaven, slovenly husbands than men do slovenly wives. Marriage does not blind us to the fact that there are other attractive men in the world any more than it makes our husbands unaware that there are other charming women. After all, love has been woman's game since time immemorial and we know it well. So men need advice on this subject more than we.

Mrs. 1935.

Answer — Right you are, Mrs. 1935. But if I write oftener to women about the importance of retaining their husbands' affections than I do to men about keeping their wives in love with them, it is because it is more important to a woman to keep her husband thinking she is the great and only one than it is for a man to remain a sheik in his wife's eyes.

For the poet expressed an eternal truth when he said "love is of man's life a thing apart, 'tis woman's whole existence." Likewise marriage to a man is a sentimental episode, but to a woman it is a profession, a career. If a man's marriage goes on the rocks, he may be battered and bruised by the misfortune, but he never suffers the same shipwreck that a woman does.

No matter whether he is happily or unhappily married a man has his business, his ambitions, his earning capacity, and he still has these in case of divorce, but the divorced woman very often has nothing but whatever pittance of alimony she can wring out of an estranged husband.

Furthermore, as long as a man is in love with his wife, it keeps him on his tiptoes trying to get comforts and luxuries to lavish upon her, but when he ceases to care for her, he slacks down and begrudges her even the meagerest support. So a woman's happiness, the safety of her home, and her physical well-being all depend upon her keeping her husband in love with her.

Of course you are quite right in saying that women are fickle even as men are, and that wives fall out of love with their husbands just as easily as men fall out of love with their wives. And this is a fact that men do not sufficiently appreciate. They cling blindly to the theory that there is something curious in a woman's make-up that enables her to love the unlovable and enjoy kissing the unkissable; which, of course, is all nonsense.

Women are no more enamoured of a three-days' beard than men are of cold cream and curl papers. Nor does any woman see in a slovenly man, who thinks home is a place where you can go about in a soiled collar and your stockinged feet, the hero of her girlish dreams.

Most of the disgruntled wives in the world, the women who are peevish and fretful and complaining, the neurotic semi-invalids, the slack housekeepers and the extravagant women are the direct results of men believing that no matter how they treated their wives they go on worshiping them, and so it isn't any use in bothering to keep their wives in love with them.

They didn't think it was worthwhile to dress up for wife and try to be easy on her eyes. They thought a grunt was all the conversation that was necessary to come her way and made no attempt to entertain her. They never noticed what she had on, or paid her a compliment or, did anything to interest and amuse her, so wife got bored with such an uninteresting companion and took to fretting and complaining or buying things by way of revenge, and said, in effect, "Oh, heck, what's the use in wearing myself out in getting up a good dinner for a man who is going to growl over it anyway," and slapped something from the delicatessen shop down on the table.

Oh, yes, it certainly would pay a man to keep his wife in love with him because as long as a woman is in love with a man she breaks her neck to please him.

DOROTHY DIX.

* * * * *

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Can you chart the troubled waters of depression courtship? What should a thrifty business woman do for the boy friend who is out of work and out of funds? Provide him with meals and clothe him, or is sympathy sufficient? Does the woman who gives money to an unrelated man, even though she is engaged to him, reap anything except resentment?

IN DOUBT.

Answer—As a rule the old adage, "when you loan money to a friend you lose both the money and the friend," goes double for women who lend or give money to men.

There is nothing more difficult than for a woman to try to help any man outside of her own family. No matter how generous she is, or how tactfully she offers assistance, it seems to rouse a resentment in him against her that kills his affection for her. Somehow it appears to make him feel that he is inferior to her and his pride rebels at this. I have never known a man whose wife supported him who treated her decently. Always he is like a surly dog that bites the hand that feeds it.

But this time of depression, when so many energetic and capable men have been thrown out of work through no fault of their own, should put men and women on a different financial footing, and I see no reason why a business woman should not help her fiance with money if he needs it, nor why he should hesitate to take it as a loan that he can repay when he gets on his feet again.

At any rate, I would certainly offer the money to him if I were you, and tell him that he has a better chance of getting a job if he is well fed and well clothed than he does when he is half starved and shabby. DOROTHY DIX.

Uncle Wiggily's Birthday Cake

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggily Longears was very fond of cake. He liked chocolate cake, coconut cake, custard cake, pound cake, half-pound cake and strawberry shortcake. Also, he liked strawberry longcake. But most of all, the jolly old rabbit gentleman liked birthday cake.

Nearly every day he would say to Nurse Jane:

"Will you please bake a birthday cake to-day?"

Then Uncle Wiggily would twinkle his pink nose, think for a minute and answer: "Well, I don't exactly know whose birthday it is to-day, but it must be somebody's birthday, as we have so many little bunny rabbits that nearly every day and sometimes twice a day it is the birthday of one of them. You go ahead and make the cake, Nurse Jane, and I'll skip around and find out whose birthday it is, whether it's Buster's or Custer's or Jingle's or Jangle's or Baby Bunty's. By the time I find out and get back you'll have the cake finished and you can put the name on in pink frosting and also the candles. Go ahead."

MADE BIG CAKE

So Nurse Jane went ahead and made a fine big chocolate coconut strawberry birthday cake while Uncle Wiggily was hopping around in the woods looking for his bunny rabbit children to find out whose birthday it was, so the cake could be cut and eaten.

The rabbit gentleman saw Baby Bunty, Jingle, Jangle and many of the other bunnies hopping about under the trees near Green Lake where the summer cottage stood.

"Hello, bunny boys and girls!" called Uncle Wiggily. "Whose birthday it is?"

For a moment no one answered, though Uncle Wiggily's bunny children often heard him ask this question. Then Baby Bunty said:

"It isn't my birthday. I wish it was, for I love cake."

"So do I," said Jingle. "But it isn't my birthday."

"Nor mine! Nor mine! Nor mine!" said each of the other rabbit children in turn. Then Uncle Wiggily hopped to where Buster, Custer and some of the boy bunnies were sailing boats in the lake.

"Whose birthday is it?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Not mine, but I'll help eat the cake," said Buster. Each of his brothers said it wasn't his birthday and Uncle Wiggily began to have a funny feeling.

"Is it possible," he thought, "that it isn't any one's birthday? That would be too bad, especially after Nurse Jane has the cake baked by this time. Perhaps I've skipped some one." So he asked each and every one of his children, but not one had a birthday that day. It wasn't Uncle Wiggily's birthday, nor that of his wife nor Nurse Jane's.

"Dear me! What are we to do with the birthday cake?" said Mr. Longears to himself as he hopped through the woods. All of a sudden, he saw two little red-spotted Squiggle Bugs sitting on a clover leaf talking. Uncle Wiggily politely listened. One Squiggler said:

"It's your birthday to-day, Jiggity, but I haven't a thing for you."

"Maybe not!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "But I have. There's a fine, big birthday cake waiting for somebody, and it's going to be yours, Jiggity Squiggle Bug! Come to my cottage and you shall both eat cake."

So the red-spotted Squigglers sat at the table on which was the big chocolate coconut strawberry cake. Jiggity blew out the five candles, for he was five years old. Then as the birthday cake was so large and the Squigglers so little, there was plenty of cake left for the bunny children. They had a fine time.

And if the saw horse will bring me some square croquet balls that won't roll so far as round ones, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's ink berries.

HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, AUGUST 23, 1935

Benefic aspects are strong to-day, according to astrology, but adverse influences also are active. After the early morning the planetary influences are helpful.

This is an unfavorable rule of the stars for women. They should avoid argument or any sort of contest, legal or domestic. The wise will attend strictly to their own knitting.

In the reactionary trend, so long foretold by the seers, women are to benefit most through the cultivation of the arts and activities accepted as strictly feminine. Cooking and sewing are under promising sway.

All the signs appear to favor the abused capitalist and the financier at this time when the planetary government again encourages great enterprises.

Manufacturers are to profit greatly and merchants are to gain much in autumn trade for there will be unusual demand for metal products, building materials and many lines of clothing.

Tremendous advancement in chemistry and in the practice of medicine may be expected before the next year ends, it is forecast. Sensational theories will contradict many long accepted beliefs regarding the human body.

King Victor Emanuel of Italy is subject to influences of the stars that abode ill for his health and his life. An accident may happen on a visit to Rome.

Saturn, Uranus and Mars presage an unfavorable period for Italian trade and new problems for Mussolini. Discontent may be of serious concern.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of fair prosperity but they will be wise to avoid conjugal discussions. The young should postpone courtship.

Children born on this day probably will be sanguine in nature and exceedingly proud. Subjects of this sign may be talented in varied lines and exceedingly independent in ordering their lives.

Oliver Hazard Perry, naval commander, was born on this day, 1785. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include David Swing, preacher and writer, 1830, and Sir Astley P. Cooper, surgeon, 1768.

MANY ENTRIES FOR REGATTA

Indications Are Labor Day Yacht Club Event Will Be Success

Entries for the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's regatta on Labor Day, Monday, September 2, are reported coming in exceedingly well, and the indications at present are that the regatta, which is to be patterned along the lines of events staged by English yacht Clubs, will be one of the most successful of its type ever staged here.

Several power boat owners have already turned in their entries for the race around Discovery Island, and numerous sail boat owners are getting their craft into shape in preparation for the sailing events at the regatta.

FLEETS OF SMALL BOATS

One of the features of the entries so far has been the receipt of applications to take part from two fleets of small boats, one from Esquimalt and one from Victoria West.

Entries from many upisland points are expected, and special provisions are being made for these visitors.

On Saturday of this week the Yacht Club is holding a power boat race to Saturna Island, the fifth in the series of races for the Budchell Cup, and series races for stars and dinghies competing for the Longstaffe and Devonian Cups, deferred from the beginning of the season.

SEEK MISSING ALASKA PLANE

Search Continues for Machine Carrying Three Fairbanks Citizens

Associated Press

Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 22.—A missing airplane with three prominent Fairbanks residents aboard was sought to-day between Dawson, Y.T., and this city.

Aboard the plane, besides the pilot were John Lonz, Fairbanks merchant; his bride of a month, and Alton Nordale, clerk of the United States District Court.

Flying a distance of ten miles apart, five searching planes flew over the rugged country between here and Dawson yesterday without finding a trace of the missing ship.

GLASGOW DOCK STRIKE ENDED

Canadian Press

Glasgow, Aug. 22.—The strike of 300 dock workers was settled in short order to-day when the men were advised to go back to work unloading the cargo from the liner Letitia, brought here after being stranded in Belfast Lough.

The men returned on the understanding that if any damaged cargo was found aboard they would claim an extra 60 cents an hour as salvage money.

Longshoremen Voting To-day

I.L.A. Ballot on B.C. Cargoes and Agreement Renewal Will End To-morrow

San Francisco, Aug. 22.—Longshoremen of the Pacific coast began voting yesterday on two measures which will have much to do with waterfront peace during the next year.

International Longshoremen's Association members cast their ballots to decide if the present embargo against cargo loaded in British Columbia ports will be continued, and if they desire to renew the award that ended the maritime strike last year.

Members of the San Francisco I.L.A. local are also voting the Maritime Federation ballot on the British Columbia question, officials announced. Members of other federation unions voted last week 18,488 to 961 to continue the embargo.

BALLOT ENDS TO-MORROW

I.L.A. balloting will be concluded to-morrow night. Votes will be counted beginning Monday at the district office in Seattle.

Five Calmar line ships strike-bound on the coast by radio operators since last Friday were ordered released yesterday on report of an agreement signed in New York, the Waterfront Employers' Association announced.

Three of the ships are in San Francisco, one in Portland and another in San Pedro.

LOUISE OFF TO ALASKA WATERS

Princess Ship Sailed Last Night for North With Heavy Passenger List

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—The Canadian Pacific's steamer Princess Louise sailed for Alaska last night with another load of northbound tourists representing all parts of Canada and United States.

Heavily booked with nearly 200 passengers, the Louise was another reminder that August is proving exceptionally kind to transportation companies in the way of tourist traffic.

Passengers included Miss D. Sadler, Miss E. Coltart, Miss H. Barnes, Mrs. J. Kozy and Miss B. Mooregn, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. N. Brown, Victoria; Robert Tarr and David Shepard, Winnipeg; A. A. and D. Martin, Montreal, on a big game expedition into Wrangell; John M. Sweeney, Miss K. Sweeney, H. S. Sulley and Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Shearer, Seattle and Mrs. Margaret Dwyer, P. L. Price Jr., Miss Frances Conners, Miss Mildred Brous, Miss Isabel Chalmers and Rev. J. H. McCummiskey, Portland.

HOPES TO BREAK MODEL RECORDS

Canadian Press

Moose Jaw, Aug. 22 — A Moose Jaw movie usher, who spends his spare time at aeronautics, and hopes to be a transport pilot, has built an engine-driven model airplane with which he hopes to break the model plane record.

Twenty-two-year-old Foster Stone built the model which has a nine-foot wing spread and a five-foot fuselage, and weighs six pounds. It is powered with a miniature gasoline motor, which whirls the propeller at 5,000 revolutions per minute.

In a test flight it attained a height of 800 feet, flew for fifteen minutes on three-quarters of an ounce of gasoline and made a perfect landing. It has a cruising speed of fifteen miles per hour. Stone said the plane cost $50 to build. The present model plane record is held by a Philadelphia lad, whose plane flew to a height of 8,000 feet, circled a distance of 187 miles and flew straight for fifty miles.

GUN PRACTICE

Gun practice from the Esquimalt defences will be held to-day and to-morrow from 7 a.m. to 2 p.m., instead of at the hours previously given, it was announced yesterday.

WAS PIONEER OF POSTAL SERVICE

John P. MacLeod, Who Was on First Mail Train Into Vancouver, Died To-day

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22.—John P. MacLeod, seventy-four, retired superintendent of railway mail service in British Columbia, pioneer of the postal department of western Canada and mail officer of the first postal train to reach Vancouver in May, 1887, died suddenly to-day.

Mr. MacLeod's first service was with the British Government as second officer of H.M.S. Gulnare of the Newfoundland coast survey. He moved to New Westminster, B.C., in 1884, on completion of his service, and was associated with the postal department there as assistant postmaster until 1887, when he joined the railway branch of Vancouver.

SAVED MAILS IN FIRE

In 1886, while employed at New Westminster, he was given a grant of $350 by the Dominion Government for saving mails from a burning train. The train pulled out of Port Moody, B.C., with Mr. MacLeod on board, and shortly afterwards was swept by fire that destroyed all but the last coach, a sleeping car.

Mr. MacLeod rushed through the flames and succeeded in saving a large portion of the mail, although he was so badly injured he was confined to the hospital for a month.

His territory after coming to Vancouver included the area between Calgary and Dawson City. He was officer of the train which left Calgary in 1887 with the first mail for Vancouver by rail. On one occasion the round trip between Calgary and Vancouver took him more than a month.

He took charge of the Vancouver office July 1, 1897, and held the post of railway mail superintendent until 1921, when a reorganization changed his title to that of postal inspector. He was retired in 1923.

EXCURSIONS TEMPT MANY

Charlotte Took 625 to Seattle To-day; Low Rates for Longacres Races

Yesterday afternoon Ss. Princess Joan carried 350 passengers on a six-hour cruise through the Gulf Islands and around the San Juan group.

During the next few days, the Charlotte will bring a big influx of Vancouver people to Victoria. On Saturday she will arrive here at 1 o'clock on an excursion sponsored by the Tourist Trade Development Association in connection with the Highland Games to be held at the Royal Athletic Park. Next Wednesday the Charlotte will bring another party from Vancouver for the civic games here.

For Victorians, who are interested in the race track, the Black Ball Ferry line is offering lower fares for this week-end to Seattle. On Saturday the Washington Jockey Club's $10,000 one-mile race is to be held at Longacres, and Victoria's Goldstream is among the entries.

These ferry rates apply on the Edmonds ferry to-morrow, with return from Seattle on Sunday on the Ss. Iroquois.

FALL FARES TO EAST OFFERED

C.P.R. and C.N.R. Announce Low Rates for Next Month

Winnipeg, Aug. 22.—Popularity of early autumn bargain fares to eastern Canada last year has induced the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways to offer similar travel privileges in September of this year, according to an announcement by Joseph B. Parker, western secretary, Canadian Passenger Association.

This fall-weather rate, attractive after the heat of summer, begins with a ticket sale from September 21 to October 4 and bears a final return limit of forty-five days in addition to the date of sale. Stopover privileges go with the tickets within a limit at the stations of Port Arthur, Armstrong and east.

Tickets will be honored in coaches, tourist or standard sleepers on payment of fare according to the accommodation desired. They will be on sale from all stations from Port Arthur, Armstrong and west, including Pacific Coast points to all stations including Sault Ste. Marie, Sudbury, Cochrane and east.

Around the Docks

EMMA IN TO-NIGHT

Inbound from California ports, Ss. Emma Alexander of the Pacific Steamship Lines will reach Rithet's Piers at 10 o'clock to-night and proceed to Seattle at midnight. The liner has about eighty passengers out of a full list and ten cars for this city.

AT OGDEN POINT

Ss. Nordfarer is still at Ogden Point, and will probably remain another day. She is loading 700,000 feet of lumber for European ports.

GOING TO YARROWS

The cable ship Restorer is expected to leave the Esquimalt Drydock this afternoon for Yarrows' plant, where work on her smoke uptake system will be carried out. She entered the drydock yesterday morning for her annual overhaul, repaint and underwater work.

EMBARGO ONLY ON U.S. SHIPS

Little Damage to Vancouver's Trade Expected From Ban on B.C. Cargoes

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 22—The Shipping Federation of British Columbia expects little inconvenience to the port of Vancouver through refusal of workers connected with the Maritime Federation of the Pacific Coast to handle B.C. cargoes, president J. E. Hall stated yesterday.

"The embargo applies only to vessels flying the American flag and, as the bulk of export and import traffic of B.C. ports is handled by ships of Canada, Britain and other countries, there has been and will be little interference with our normal business," Mr. Hall said.

"It does apply directly, however, to the handling of B.C. products to and from Pacific Coast ports and, as a result, the business of some of our most important key industries, such as the Powell River Paper Company, has been seriously curtailed.

"The foreign and coastwise traffic of B.C. is now being handled promptly and efficiently by loyal citizens, including many of those formerly on strike, and no further interruptions will be permitted."

PUGET SOUND SALMON DERBY

Big Fish Being Caught at Seattle, Port Angeles and Olympia Now

Associated Press

Seattle, Aug. 22.—It's "salmon Derby" time—and fishermen are in their glory. Four big contests are being run off, two here and one each at Port Angeles and Olympia.

A sixteen-pound king, taken by W. L. Googins, Oklahoma City oil man, after a battle of two hours and twenty minutes, is the high fish now in the biggest Seattle contest, conducted by Ben Paris. The forty-six pounds was dressed weight.

"The fishing is good," Deskin Reid, who aids Paris in handling the summer-long contest, said to-day. "More big fish are being caught this summer than in any of our four previous annual derbies."

At Port Angeles, a fifty-two-pound fish was taken several weeks ago, but it was the catcher's fishermah's luck to take it before the derby began.

Women are in on the fishing. Mrs. Ernest Hansen of Seattle, has a forty-two-pounder to her credit here. Three Port Angeles sisters, Mrs. James Safreed, Mrs Jack Doran and Violet Fairchild have all qualified for the finals, with catches weighing more than ten pounds.

Hundreds of salmon, including the smaller "humpies," silvers and blackmouths have been taken. Between 800 and 1,000 fish were caught on one day in the semi-finals of the Port Angeles Ediz Hook derby, two Sundays ago. A thirty-one-pound, one-ounce fish, caught by Herman Swanson, was the largest.

Another contest here, the spinning sweepstakes, is limited to fishermen spinning from an anchored boat and the high fish now is a thirty-six-pounder, taken by Bill Thomsen.

Nearly all sporting goods stores here exhibit catches daily in iced trays on the sidewalks. Twenty-pound kings have been frequent sights, as well as other smaller species of salmon, trout, crappie and bass. An Elliott Bay sand shark was shown recently by one store.

On the days of the "finals," September 1, for Reid's contest here and the Port Angeles derby, the biggest fish caught will take top prizes.

An automobile is the first prize, with fifty other prizes and three separate ones for women, in one contest here. The high prize in the spinning sweepstakes is $250 in cash.

MANY TO SAIL ON ASIA TO-DAY

Canadian Pacific Liner Leaves for Honolulu and Orient at 5 o'Clock

Bound for China and Japan ports and Manila by way of Honolulu, R.M.S. Empress of Asia, Captain A. V. R. Lovegrove, R.N.R., will leave Rithet's Piers at 5.30 o'clock this afternoon. The Canadian Pacific liner is carrying her heaviest list of the season. She is due here from Vancouver at 4 o'clock.

Out of a total of 425 passengers on the Asia, more than 100 are bound for Honolulu, where the liner is making a special call on this trip. Many of them are school teachers returning in time to take up their duties at the end of the month.

Also bound for Honolulu is another of the Canadian Pacific's house parties, made up of its employees and headed by W. L. Cotterell, Toronto passenger agent.

On his annual tour of inspection to the Orient, Captain E. Aikman, superintendent of steamships with the Canadian Pacific in Vancouver, is among the passengers sailing on the Asia.

Vancouver, Aug. 22 (Canadian Press).—Sir Frederick Leith-Ross, chief economic adviser to the British government, to-day expressed anxiety over the Italo-Ethiopian situation. He sailed aboard R.M.S. Empress of Asia for the Orient where he will study Chinese economic problems.

Sir Frederick did not believe the Ethiopian feud threatens a world war but he regarded the possibilities as distinctly grave.

As against a dark international outlook, he said Britain is much improved internally. She still has much unemployment but the wheels of industry and business are turning faster and more consistently.

Sir Frederick is accompanied by Lady Leith-Ross, E. Hallpatch, en route to the Peiping embassy as financial counsellor, and C. Rogers of the Bank of England.

PLATEAU TRIP FULLY BOOKED

Coach Lines Offer for This Week-end Draws Swift Response

The popularity of the Forbidden Plateau was evidenced in a tangible manner by the capacity-booking for the all-expense tour arranged for this week-end by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. Although the sale of tickets is not scheduled to close until 5 o'clock to-morrow, the tour was entirely sold out by 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

This is the first tour of this type, whereon the return fare includes both transportation and sleeping accommodation, to be featured to the Forbidden Plateau by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. The gratifying response is, in the opinion of the management, undoubtedly due to the attraction that Vancouver Island's hinterland holds for the public, and fully justifies the bus company's efforts to make accessible to everyone the beauty spots of the island.

Although the summer season is drawing to a close, should the weather and popular demand warrant, another low-fare tour to the Forbidden Plateau will shortly be arranged in order to accommodate those who were unable to make this first trip.

SCREEN STAR IN NARROW ESCAPE

Associated Press

Hollywood, Aug. 22—His airplane demolished by the premature explosion of a bomb, Clark Williams, movie leading man, narrowly escaped death during the taking of a movie scene.

The accident occurred at Triunfo, thirty miles north of here, where two prominent motion picture workers were killed in an airplane crash two months ago.

Members of the film crew said Williams was about to take off in the plane. Bombs had been placed in the wings and tail, they said, for a scene from "The Great Air Mystery."

As the ship started to leave the ground, the dynamite in the rear exploded, prematurely. Williams had just moved from the back seat to the front of the cockpit.

He was badly shaken and bruised in the wreckage.

Will Eliminate Level Crossings

Railway Board Will Spend $1,000,000 to Protect Public

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Aug. 22—With $1,000,000 at its disposal for the elimination of level crossings, the Board of Railway Commissioners is awaiting applications from local authorities for expenditures from the Fund, Hon. Hugh Guthrie, chairman of the board, announced to-day. As a general rule the board will pay 70 per cent of the cost of crossing elimination out of the fund, leaving 30 per cent to be paid by the province, municipality or railway interested.

The money was appropriated by parliament under the Public Works Construction Act, passed last session. The governor-in-council is authorized to determine the amount to be paid from the fund and by railways, provinces and municipalities to the improvement of particular crossings for the protection of motor traffic. All applications so far approved have been on the basis of 70 per cent from the fund.

"A number of applications have already been received by the board," said Mr. Guthrie, "for expenditures out of this fund, and up to the present time fifteen applications have been approved from various parts of Canada involving an expenditure of $432,000.

By provinces, the applications so far approved are: British Columbia, $12,499; Saskatchewan, $35,486; Ontario, $300,967.32; Quebec, $4,950 and Nova Scotia, $78,922.66.

No applications have yet been received from the provinces of Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island.

"The fund was established for the purpose of affording protection to the traveling public, and also for the purpose of providing employment throughout Canada. There are many railway crossings throughout Canada where a moderate expenditure would greatly improve the safety of travelers upon the highways, and municipalities throughout Canada are invited to make applications to the board of railway commissioners as soon as possible in respect of dangerous highway crossings under their control.

"As the amount voted by parliament for the whole of Canada is only $1,000,000, large expenditures for single crossings would soon exhaust the whole fund, but it is considered that expenditures ranging from $2,000 to $10,000 could be made in many parts of Canada which would add greatly to the safety to travelers upon the highways which are crossed by railways.

The board of railway commissioners is prepared to consider immediately all applications which may be sent to it either by provincial governments, or by municipalities throughout Canada."

Bargain Rates For Week-end

Low Fares on E. & N. With Going Dates To-morrow and Saturday

Victorians this week-end are offered the opportunity to treat themselves to a long week-end's holiday at any up-island point that they may prefer. To-morrow and Saturday the Esquimalt and Nanaimo trains will give transportation at exceptionally low rates. Those taking advantage of these bargain fares can return any time up to next Tuesday.

On some of the longer distances these rates work out as low as 1 cent per mile. They are a repetition of the highly successful bargain rate experiments of June and July of this year.

For those who wish to spend their week-end in the open, the E. & N. provides easy access to beauty spots such as the Forbidden Plateau and Cameron Lake. For others who are looking for a quiet week-end of rest there are such resorts as Qualicum Beach and Parksville.
